Morton Claims Kennedy Plays Politics with Cuban Problem

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky has charged President Kennedy with playing politics over Cuba.

There are "distinct political overtones," Morton told the Senate Thursday, to Kennedy's suggestion at a news conference Wednesday that Fidel Castro might not be a problem now if the Eisenhower administration had taken action.

"During the 1950s there were few, if any, Republican voices raised in support of Castro and there were few, if any, Democratic voices raised in condemnation of Castro," Morton declared. "This record is clear."

The Kentuckian, a former Republican national chairman, said the Eisenhower administration took steps in March 1960 to train and equip an expeditionary force of Cuban exiles to invade Cuba. "For various reasons, including the difficulty of finding proper leadership," Morton continued, the plan could not be implemented during the administration's remaining 10 months in power.

When the invasion was attempted under the Kennedy administration in April 1961 at the Bay of Pigs it failed, Morton added.

The senator said Kennedy had showed bold initiative during the missile showdown last fall, but now is pursuing "a wishy-washy policy of backing and stalling."

Other Republicans who commented Thursday picked up Kennedy's challenge to critics of his Cuban policy to say whether they favor an invasion to topple Castro.

"Republicans have not advocated invasion of Cuba," said Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona. "Neither have they shrunk because of fear from the possibility of this happening."

Goldwater said that while he does not advocate early invasion of the island, he is not afraid of going to war over Cuba.

"If we are not willing to take risks in this world," he said in an interview, "we might as well give up."

"This necktie is an occupational hazard," Castellano said.

"I am wondering how it is a policeman hasn't been choked to death."

Bombs Said Dropped on Cuba Refineries

WASHINGTON (AP)—Alexander Rorke told an anti-Communist meeting today he was aboard a plane that dropped "five defensive bombs" on refineries in Havana Thursday night.

Rorke listed on the program as a television reporter-photographer, did not explain what he meant by "defensive bombs" but presumably it was a play on words on the contentions by the Russians that they have only defensive weapons in Cuba.

"The bombs went off, but the tanks did not blow," he said. He added "we made two passes—they can't deny it."

Rorke spoke to a meeting billed as an anti-Communist liaison seminar.

Later, Rorke told a reporter he was from New York City and had been a reporter for the National Broadcasting Company in Cuba and was imprisoned there when Fidel Castro came to power. He said also it was his boat, Violent III, which was taken by the British.

Rorke introduced a man to the assembly as Laureano Batista, and said, "He won't say he did it, and I won't say he did it." This was in reference to any role in Thursday night's operation.

Rorke said that "as to where we (the plane) left from," he could say that "it was a small land mass off the Eurasian continent."

He called the operation "a defensive mission in a defensive plane."

He said not one shot was fired at them.

He said there were four people aboard the plane, including an American student from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology who was on his way to Boston.

Rorke laid particular stress on the desire of the Cubans for action to free their country from Castro. "The Cubans for action are organized despite what you are told, and always have been," Rorke said.

He told reporters the bombing was at 8:55 p.m. and that those aboard the plane included Cuban freedom fighter technicians as well as Cubans.

He said they were over the Havana area, just east of Morro Castle, for 4 minutes and 40 seconds.

He said also "I took movies as we approached."

Ohio Women To Hear Data On Convention

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — For the next few weeks, women's clubs all over the state will be hearing about "what we did at the Columbus convention."

That, says the president of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. K. Richard Breidenbach of Dayton, is what the 1,182 delegates who spent much of this week in the capital are supposed to do.

The convention wound up yesterday.

Before adjourning — slightly ahead of schedule — delegates okayed four resolutions calling for periodic motor vehicle inspections, advocating increased air and water pollution control, urging community mental health programs and opposing transfer of the Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital from State Health Department jurisdiction.

Next year's convention will be in Cincinnati.

Hostess clubs this year were from Chillicothe, Portsmouth, Ironton, Proctorville, Chesapeake, South Point, Oakhill, Jackson, Wellsville, Gallipolis, Circleville, Wellsville, Lancaster and Ashley.

Among awards presented yesterday were:

Achievement in all areas of the program—Mount Washington (Cincinnati) Junior Women's Club.

Mental health work — Steubenville Junior Women's Club.

36 Prominent Businessmen Call For $10 Billion Slash in U.S. Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP)—A group of prominent businessmen headed by Henry Ford II has called for a $10 billion cut in corporate and individual taxes — a move hailed by President Kennedy as demonstrating "a high sense of statesmanship."

The call for a tax cut was in a statement of principles issued by Ford and 35 other industrialists and financiers Thursday as they launched a drive to whip up interest in tax reduction.

Among the major recommendations of the group, called the Business Committee for Tax Reduction in 1963, are that Congress make a substantial part of the reduction effective as early as possible this year and that a reasonable balance be struck between federal income and expenditures.

The plan the President has presented to Congress—a three-year $13.6-billion cut to be partly offset by $3.4 billion of revenue-raising changes in the tax structure—was not endorsed as such.

In fact, the businessmen who met Thursday with Kennedy at the White House suggested specifically that consideration of revisions should be removed from the path of tax reduction lest cuts in rates be snarled in debate.

"Personally, I don't agree with the proposed reforms," Ford told a news conference.

Still, the new group is operating with the active support of the White House and the Treasury Department, which are pushing hard for congressional approval of a tax cut and are trying to rally as much support in the business community as possible.

Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon and other administration officials addressed the group Thursday. The President's subsequent statement was in the nature of a salute.

While the official Treasury position still is that tax cuts and tax revision should be considered together, there has been increasing evidence that the administration would sidetrack revision if necessary to get a tax cut enacted. Kennedy himself has said nothing should stand in the way of rate cuts this year.

The President acknowledged in his statement that the businessmen were not wholly in accord with his proposals. Nevertheless, he said, "their action indicates a substantial area of commonly held views which is far more significant than the area of difference."

In one point of difference with the administration, the committee advocated that a proposal for a 5-per cent floor on itemized deductions be set aside. There is a difference in emphasis, too, in that the administration favors a three-year plan of reduction, while the businessmen want the major slice to take effect as early as possible.

On rate cutting, the businessmen and the administration generally are in agreement.

The business group called for lowering the corporate income tax rate from 52 per cent to at least 47 per cent. It said individual rates—which now range from 20 to 91 per cent—should be lowered too, but made no specific recommendation as to much.

As for spending, the businessmen said they advocate "rigid expenditure discipline."

Alabama Mum In Death Probe

One of Two Suspects Freed by Policemen

GADSDEN, Ala. (AP) — Tight-lipped authorities have freed one of two men questioned at length about the roadside slaying of a Maryland integration pilgrim.

The other man still was being held today on an open charge.

The man released was identified as Gaddis Killian, 44, who reportedly turned himself in when his wife told him officers had been looking for him.

Neither he nor authorities would talk to newsmen when he was released late Thursday night.

The Tuesday night rifle slaying of William L. Moore, 35, a Baltimore mailman, was termed a "senseless, brutal killing with no apparent motive except hate," by a state investigator, Lt. Maurice Chambers.

Moore was hiking from Chattanooga, Tenn., to Jackson, Miss., where he had hoped to present his antisegregation views to Gov. Ross Barnett.

Authorities declined to name the men they picked up, but Mrs. Killian and Mrs. Floyd Simpson said their husbands were taken into custody Thursday for questioning.

Mrs. Simpson said her husband operates a small store in a building owned by Killian. The location is about 18 miles from another store Moore stopped at shortly before he was shot twice at close range with a rifle.

Pro integration signs Moore was carrying were found near the body.

After investigators abruptly ended their hours-long questioning of the two men, six state and county officers went to adjacent DeKalb County, apparently to check out a new lead.

Maj. Bill Jones, chief of the investigative division of the State Department of Public Safety, declined to comment on the progress of the investigation.

New Armory For Logan Given Nod

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Logan has received the go ahead for a new $232,500 National Guard Armory.

The State Controlling Board started the action Thursday by releasing $75,000 in state capital improvement funds to go with $157,500 federal money.

The request for release of the state money stated that the federal funds have been withheld because "the former adjutant general would not agree to the joint utilization of facilities with other reserve components."

The present adjutant general, Maj. Gen. Erwin Hostetter, successor to Maj. Gen. Loren G. Windom, has agreed to the joint use of the facilities.

The armory will be located on an 8-1-3 acre site donated to Ohio by the Logan Trades Club, Inc., and will contain about 15,000 square feet of space. It will be used for administration and training of Battery A, 2nd Battalion, 174th Artillery.

Opinion Split on Khrushchev's Future as Chieftain of Soviet

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev admits he is aging like any mortal and won't head the Soviet Communist party and government forever. But foreign opinion here was split today over whether the 69-year-old leader brought the matter up in public because he plans to give up either post soon.

"I am already 69 and I have told a meeting of industry and construction workers, 'Everyone understands that I cannot hold all the time the position I now have in the party and the state.'"

The three-hour speech, made on Wednesday, was published in full today in all Moscow newspapers.

Khrushchev made no mention of quitting either post. But his remarks set off a dispute among Western observers in Moscow whether he might announce such plans at a meeting of the party central committee called for May 28. It has been announced that the committee will discuss ideological matters.

Khrushchev holds two official posts: chairman of the council of ministers, or premier, and first secretary of the Soviet Communist party.

Some observers are convinced Khrushchev is determined to hold onto both jobs until he dies. Others have been speculating that the Soviet leader might give up the secretaryship, the premier's post.

(U.S. experts in Washington expressed doubt that Khrushchev is going to step down for a while. Despite occasional rumors to the contrary, Washington authorities have no evidence that Khrushchev is in danger of being ousted from his Kremlin command.)

Several members of the Soviet hierarchy are considered possible political heirs to Khrushchev, and three deputy premiers are considered leading contenders. They are Frol R. Kozlov, 54, a Khrushchev favorite; Anastas I. Mikoyan, 67, also a close associate, and Alexei Kosygin, 58, an industrial authority.

Under the system of party authority which Khrushchev stressed in his speech, the party's central committee would choose his successor.

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP)—A jury of 10 men and 2 women today returned a verdict of innocent in the bribery trial of Sheriff George Neff, after deliberating 44 minutes.

Sheriff Neff, after hearing the verdict given clerk Anthony Vavra by William Kirland, the jury foreman, rushed to embrace his attorney, Hugo Alexander.

The jury began deliberations shortly after 10 a. m., after hearing the charge from Common pleas Judge John G. Worley of Harrison County, who was presiding over the case by assignment.

It was the second trial for Sheriff Neff. His first trial ended after the jury deliberated seven hours without reaching agreement.

Final arguments in the case were heard Thursday in the Belmont County Common pleas Court. The sheriff had been charged with three counts of bribery and one of embezzlement and conversion. They stemmed from allegations that the sheriff attempted to get money for overlooking illegal sales of intoxicants in the dry community of Barnesville.

One of the chief figures in the trial was Steve Miller, Neff's former deputy. He testified for the state that the sheriff had instructed him to solicit bribes from officers of several Barnesville private clubs where intoxicants were sold in violation of state and municipal laws.

The Soviets have objected repeatedly to American helicopter flights over East Berlin, but the Western Allies contend that they have a right to fly anywhere in the control zone. The zone covers a circle of 20 miles radius from the center of the city.

The helicopters returned unharmed to West Berlin after flights lasting about 40 minutes. The helicopters were on routine flights in the Berlin Control Zone, which stretches over both parts of the city.

Last August the Soviets threatened to shoot down an American helicopter which took off on a routine flight over the zone after filing a flight plan with the Berlin Air Safety Center. The center is administered by all four occupation powers — the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France.

The Soviets did not carry out their threat, and the U.S. commandant in Berlin protested to the Soviet commandant.

Nickel Plate Strike Called for Monday

CLEVELAND (AP) — President Charles Luna of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen said today he has authorized a strike by his union against the Wheeling District of the Nickel Plate Road for 6 a. m. Monday.

Negotiations between the railroad and the union broke off last Tuesday. Luna said he notified the National Mediation Board today of the strike authorization.

The dispute involves allowances for employees' expenses while they are working away from home, repair of an oil-impregnated slag roadway the union considers a working hazard and a BRT request for a special board of adjustment to arbitrate discipline and time claim cases.

Khrush Wants Peace, Too

Kremlin in Accord With Aims for Laos

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev assured Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman today that he joined with the United States in affirming full support of the accord on keeping Laos neutral and peaceful.

Khrushchev made the declaration in a joint communique issued after he had discussed the Laos situation for three and a half hours in the Kremlin with Harriman.

The communique declared that "The President (Kennedy) and chairman of the Council of Ministers Khrushchev reaffirmed that both governments fully support the general agreements on the Laotian question about which there was an exchange of views between them at Vienna and a mutual understanding reached."

The communique noted that Harriman delivered to Khrushchev a personal letter from President Kennedy on the Laotian situation.

This was followed by a long discussion in which Khrushchev, Harriman, U.S. Ambassador Foy Kohler and Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko took part, as well as others from both sides.

How the discussion proceeded, or whether any concrete action to stop the fighting in Laos was agreed upon was not indicated either in the communique or by embassy officials.

The tightest kind of secrecy has been exercised by the U.S. embassy since Harriman's arrival. Embassy officials refused even to mention the subject of Laos to reporters.

Harriman and Kohler went to see Khrushchev after talking for 2½ hours with Gromyko.

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—An Elyria fireman and part-time ambulance driver died Thursday after he stepped on a fallen power line at an accident scene to which he had been sent.

Witnesses said Maynard Hintz, 45, was killed Thursday when he stumbled and fell on a 7,000-volt power line that a car had knocked down in North Ridgville.

Hintz stepped on the line while helping to put the accident victims into an ambulance.

Three occupants of the car that struck the utility pole were hospitalized, police said.

Gas Explosion Rips Pit in West Virginia

CLARKSBURG, W.Va. (AP)—Cinchfield Coal Co. announced shortly after noon that 14 bodies of 22 men trapped by an explosion in its Compass No. 2 mine near here have been recovered.

There was practically no hope the other eight—even deeper in the mine—would be found alive.

Three bodies were found first near the main mine tunnel, about a mile and a half from the main entrance. Eleven others were found a short time later in a lateral working section.

The 22 men, all married, had 63 dependents.

There was little hope the other 19 would be found alive.

Two of the victims were sprawled in the main passageway about 1½ miles from the foot of the main shaft. The third body was nearby. None was identified.

The 22 men, all married, have 59 dependents among them.

Announcement of the finding of the first victims of the Thursday explosion was made by mine Supt. Harry Chapman, whose brother is one of the missing miners.

The bodies, Chapman reported, were found near the opening of a drift in which 13 miners were scheduled to be working when a rumbling gas explosion hit the mine.

Seven other men were assigned to a drift 2,000 feet farther into the mine and two men were assisting both crews.

Outside the mine's entrance, women, coal miners in working gear, police and coal company officials kept vigil.

There was nothing on the outside to indicate what had taken place. Fans which circulate air through the mine continued to operate. The shaft was not damaged. The elevator which can carry 10 men down into the working area was still operating.

Leonard Timms, state mines director, said the trapped men were about 1¼ miles from the shaft when the explosion rumbled through the deep works.

As rescue crews leapfrogged through mine drifts toward the explosion area 5,000 feet back in the mine, a company official said:

"We have hopes, but chances are slim they're still alive."

At the shaft head at Dofa, six miles northwest of here, wives of the trapped men, officials, off-

About the only areas not under the shadow, he said, are parts of the midwest corn belt, the northern great plains and the Pacific Coast, particularly Washington Oregon and northern California.

Alabama Mum In Death Probe

One of Two Suspects Freed by Policemen

GADSDEN, Ala. (AP) — Tight-lipped authorities have freed one of two men questioned at length about the roadside slaying of a Maryland integration pilgrim.

The other man still was being held today on an open charge.

The man released was identified as Gaddis Killian, 44, who reportedly turned himself in when his wife told him officers had been looking for him.

Neither he nor authorities would talk to newsmen when he was released late Thursday night.

The Tuesday night rifle slaying of William L. Moore, 35, a Baltimore mailman, was termed a "senseless, brutal killing with no apparent motive except hate," by a state investigator, Lt. Maurice Chambers.

Moore was hiking from Chattanooga, Tenn., to Jackson, Miss., where he had hoped to present his anti-segregation views to Gov. Ross Barnett.

Authorities declined to name the men they picked up, but Mrs. Killian and Mrs. Floyd Simpson said their husbands were taken into custody Thursday for questioning.

Mrs. Simpson said her husband operates a small store in a building owned by Killian. The location is about 18 miles from another store Moore stopped at shortly before he was shot twice at close range with a rifle.

Pro integration signs Moore was carrying were found near the body.

After investigators abruptly ended their hours-long questioning of the two men, six state and county officers went to adjacent DeKalb County, apparently to check out a new lead.

Maj. Bill Jones, chief of the investigative division of the State Department of Public Safety, declined to comment on the progress of the investigation.

New Armory For Logan Given Nod

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Logan has received the go ahead for a new $232,500 National Guard Armory.

The State Controlling Board started the action Thursday by releasing $75,000 in state capital improvement funds to go with $157,500 federal money.

The request for release of the state money stated that the federal funds have been withheld because "the former adjutant general would not agree to the joint utilization of facilities with other reserve components."

The present adjutant general, Maj. Gen. Erwin Hostetler, successor to Maj. Gen. Loren G. Windom, has agreed to the joint use of the facilities.

The armory will be located on an 1.3 acre site donated to the by the Logan Trades Club, Inc., and will contain about 15,000 square feet of space. It will be used for administration and training of Battery A, 2nd Battalion, 174th Artillery.

Opinion Split on Khrushchev's Future as Chieftain of Soviet

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev admits he is aging like any mortal and won't head the Soviet Communist party and government forever. But foreign opinion here was split today over whether the 69-year-old leader brought the matter up in public because he plans to give up either post soon.

"I am already 69 and I have told a meeting of industry and construction workers. 'Everyone understands that I cannot hold for all time the position I now have in the party and the state.'"

The three-hour speech, made on Wednesday, was published in full today in all Moscow newspapers.

Khrushchev made no mention of quitting either post. But his remarks set off a dispute among Western observers in Moscow whether he might announce such plans at a meeting of the party central committee called for May 28. It has been announced that the committee will discuss ideological matters.

Khrushchev holds two official posts: chairman of the council of ministers, or premier, and first secretary of the Soviet Communist party.

Some observers are convinced Khrushchev is determined to hold onto both jobs until he dies. Others have been speculating that the Soviet leader might give up the secretaryship, the premiership or both.

(U.S. experts in Washington expressed doubt that Khrushchev is going to step down for a while. Despite occasional rumors to the

U.S. Copters Harassed by Soviet Planes

BERLIN (AP) — Soviet planes approached two U.S. helicopters over East Berlin today in an apparent effort to discourage their routine flights over the Communist half of the city.

U.S. sources said the Soviet planes came within 500 yards of the helicopters.

The helicopters returned unharmed to West Berlin after flights lasting about 40 minutes. The helicopters were on routine flights in the Berlin Control Zone, which stretches over both parts of the city.

The Soviets have objected repeatedly to American helicopter flights over East Berlin, but the Western Allies contend that they have a right to fly anywhere in the control zone. The zone covers a circle of 20 miles radius from the center of the city.

Last August the Soviets threatened to shoot down an American helicopter which took off on a routine flight over the zone after filing a flight plan with the Berlin Air Safety Center. The center is administered by all four occupation powers — the United States, the Soviet Union, Britain and France.

The Soviets did not carry out their threat, and the U.S. commandant in Berlin protested to the Soviet commandant.

Khrushchev Wants Peace, Too

Kremlin in Accord With Aims for Laos

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev assured Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman today that he joined with the United States in affirming full support of the accord on keeping Laos neutral and peaceful.

Khrushchev made the declaration in a joint communique issued after he had discussed the Laos situation for three and a half hours in the Kremlin with Harriman.

The communique declared that "The President (Kennedy) and chairman of the Council of Ministers Khrushchev reaffirmed that both governments fully support the general agreements on the Laotian question about which there was an exchange of views between them at Vienna and a mutual understanding reached."

The communique noted that Harriman delivered to Khrushchev a personal letter from President Kennedy on the Laotian situation.

This was followed by a long discussion in which Khrushchev, Harriman, U.S. Ambassador Foy Kohler and Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko took part, as well as others from both sides.

How the discussion proceeded, or whether any concrete action to stop the fighting in Laos was agreed upon was not indicated either in the communique or by embassy officials.

The tightest kind of secrecy has been exercised by the U.S. embassy since Harriman's arrival. Embassy officials refused even to mention the subject of Laos to reporters.

Harriman and Kohler went to see Khrushchev after talking for 2 1/2 hours with Gromyko.

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—An Elyria fireman and part-time ambulance driver died Thursday after he stepped on a fallen power line at an accident scene to which he had been sent.

Witnesses said Maynard Hintz, 45, was killed Thursday when he stumbled and fell on a 7,000-volt power line that a car had knocked down in North Ridgeville.

Hintz stepped on the line while helping to put the accident victims into an ambulance.

Three occupants of the car that struck the utility pole were hospitalized, police said.

Gas Explosion Rips Pit in West Virginia

CLARKSBURG, W.Va. (AP)—Cinchfield Coal Co. announced shortly after noon that 14 bodies of 22 men trapped by an explosion in its Compass No. 2 mine near here have been recovered.

There was practically no hope the other eight—even deeper in the mine—would be found alive.

Three bodies were found first near the main mine tunnel, about a mile and a half from the main entrance. Eleven others were found a short time later in a lateral working section.

The 22 men, all married, had 63 dependents.

There was little hope the other 19 would be found alive.

Two of the victims were sprawled in the main passageway about 1 1/2 miles from the foot of the main shaft. The third body was nearby. None was identified.

The 22 men, all married, have 59 dependents among them.

Announcement of the finding of the first victims of the Thursday explosion was made by mine Supt. Harry Chapman, whose brother is one of the missing miners.

The bodies, Chapman reported, were found near the opening of a drift in which 13 miners were scheduled to be working when a rumbling gas explosion hit the mine.

Seven other men were assigned to a drift 2,000 feet farther into the mine and two men were assisting both crews.

Outside the mine's entrance, women, coal miners in working gear, police and coal company officials kept vigil.

There was nothing on the outside to indicate what had taken place. Fans which circulate air through the mine continued to operate. The shaft was not damaged. The elevator which can carry 10 men down into the working area was still operating.

Leonard Timms, state mines director, said the trapped men were about 1 1/2 miles from the shaft when the explosion rumbled through the deep works.

As rescue crews leaptroged through mine drifts toward the explosion area 5,000 feet back in the mine, a company official said:

"We have hopes, but chances are slim they're still alive."

At the shaft head at Dofa, six miles northwest of here, wives of the trapped men, officials, off-

Officers Probe Report Girls Chased by Man

Police today were investigating a complaint by three young local girls that an unidentified man chased them.

According to officers, the incident allegedly happened in the vicinity of High and Scioto Sts. They said the youngsters were not caught by the man.

The girls said they were walking along Scioto St. near their home about 10 p. m. Wednesday when the man gave chase. They reported the incident to police yesterday.

The youngsters, one of them 13 and the other two younger, said they walked past the man. They said shortly after passing him, the man started chasing them. According to their report to police, he held his hands over his face.

A RESIDENT on Scioto St. who came out of his house on hearing the girls apparently scared the man away. Patrolman William Bruns noted in his report.

The girls described the man as being of husky build and wearing black gloves.

Gas Explosion

shift workers and miners who escaped the blast kept a dawn vigil. State Police blocked rural roads to keep away the curious. Ambulances and rescue vehicles stood by.

The explosion, tentatively laid to deadly and explosive methane gas, possibly in combination with coal dust, blew dirt and debris out the 330-foot main mine shaft just after 11 p. m. Twenty-nine miners working away from the explosion area tumbled out of the mine.

But 22 others—14 working on one seam, seven on another and a foreman who could have been with either group—did not appear. The area was a mile and three-quarters from the nearest mine opening.

A hurried call was put in for mine rescue crews, equipped with oxygen breathing apparatus. Teams rushed to the mine from Clarksburg and Fairmont. Five six-man teams were on the job before dawn.

Stephen Canonic, Clinchfield vice president, said the lead rescue team encountered traces of methane gas about 3,500 feet from the area in which the men were working. Blowers dispersed the deadly fumes.

The rescue groups penetrated to within 1,500 feet of the work area by dawn. Smoke thickened as the teams advanced. No rock falls were encountered and Canonic was hopeful the area of the trapped men could be reached in a matter of hours.

"If they were physically able, they would have tried to throw up a bulkhead or barrier," he said. "But in the circumstances, I don't know if they had the chance."

Names of the trapped men were not immediately available. Canonic said a list would be released after their fate is determined. All were local men from the Clarksburg area.

The Compass No. 2 mine, a shaft and drift operation as opposed to open surface mines, employs 185 men.

Ashville Man Fined $200 For OMVI

Ronald J. Freymuth, 21, Ashville, was charged today for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants by Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Gene Kerns.

Cited into Municipal Court, Freymuth was found guilty by Judge Sterling M. Lamb. A fine of $200 plus costs and a 30-day jail sentence was levied by the Judge. He suspended 25 days of the sentence.

The defendant was placed on probation for one year. His operator's license was suspended for the same period.

Involved in a single car accident on Route 316 at the Ashville Corporation limits, Freymuth refused medical attention at Berger Hospital last night. He was taken there by Deputy Kerns.

In other city court action today, Carl M. Gwin, 19, of New York, charged with operating a motor vehicle without an operator's license, was handed a $100 fine. He was involved in an accident just west of Circleville on Route 22 Wednesday.

Russell E. Toland, 26, Ashville, was fined $50 and costs for parking on the highway. Deputy George Linder, arresting officer, told the court Toland's vehicle had been parked on the highway for a two-day period.

Police Ponder Daylight Entry At Laundramat

Circleville Police were confronted yesterday with a switch from the normal routine concerning burglaries and illegal entries.

Most burglaries are committed during the night season. However, police have reason to believe an entry and theft Thursday at the Duds & Suds Laundramat on E. Franklin St. was pulled off in daylight.

Through checks with patrons of the laundramat, officers figure the entry was made between noon and 1:30 p. m. An estimated $140 in change was taken.

Patrolmen William Bruns and Jack Mills said locks and hasps were forced off a metal shield covering coin boxes. The boxes then were removed from the wall.

A similar theft at a Columbus laundramat was reported here, this one at 5 p. m. yesterday. Police are checking the possibilities of both jobs being pulled by the same intruders.

Objection Filed In Suit against Berger Hospital

A demurrer was filed today in the $35,000 suit of Charles Stonerock, Route 2, Williamsport, versus Berger Hospital.

The objection was filed against the case pending in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court by Robert H. Huffer and Kenneth Robbins, legal advisers for Pickaway County and Circleville respectively.

Stonerock is seeking the $35,000 judgment from the city-county hospital as the result of alleged circumstances and damages leading up to, and after, the birth of his son, Thomas Eugene Stonerock.

Named defendants of the suit were Berger Hospital and its representative bodies—the City of Circleville and County Commissioners, Wayne Hines, Clyde Michell and Lloyd Melvin.

The defendants' demurrer, yet to be acted upon by Judge William Ammer, objects to "Berger Hospital" being named as a party defendant.

They claim "Berger Hospital is not a separate entity capable of being sued; it is not an individual, a partnership, nor has it any corporate existence."

The objection says "Berger Hospital" is merely a name attached to a facility owned by the city and county under a contractual relationship between the two political subdivisions.

"It is merely a governmental function of the two subdivisions operated in the interest of the health and welfare of the county and city precisely the same as the Circleville Fire Department and the Courthouse," the legal document states.

The defendants claim, therefore, that liability, if any, for negligence would fall directly back onto the city and county—being the governmental entities which operate "Berger Hospital."

Defendants of the court action ask that the demurrer be sustained by the court and that "Berger Hospital" be removed from the case as a party defendant.

Stock Market Prices Mixed

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market seemed to lack incentive to go anywhere in particular and prices were mixed, with a slightly lower tendency this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

Changes of most key stocks were fractional.

The trend was lower among the major steelmakers, rails, Big Three autos and drugs. Utilities were firm. Some of the airline stocks were up smartly on reports of higher profits. Selected chemicals posted fair gains.

The latest upward drive of the market seemed to be pretty well dampened by profit taking. At the same time, there was news of a decline in construction contracts in March from the like 1962 period, the first year-to-year decline in 15 months. The Census Bureau reported that retail trade fell below year ago levels in the past week for the first time this year.

Officers Probe Report Girls Chased by Man

Police today were investigating a complaint by three young local girls that an unidentified man had chased them.

According to officers, the incident allegedly happened in the vicinity of High and Scioto Sts. They said the youngsters were not caught by the man.

The girls said they were walking along Scioto St. near their home about 10 p. m. Wednesday when the man gave chase. They reported the incident to police yesterday.

The youngsters, one of them 13 and the other two younger, said they walked past the man. They said shortly after passing him, the man started chasing them. According to their report to police, he held his hands over his face.

A RESIDENT on Scioto St. who came out of his house on hearing the girls apparently scared the man away, Patrolman William Brungs noted in his report. The girls described the man as being of husky build and wearing black gloves.

Gas Explosion

shift workers and miners who escaped the blast kept a dawn vigil. State Police blocked rural roads to keep away the curious. Ambulances and rescue vehicles stood by.

The explosion, tentatively laid to deadly and explosive methane gas, possibly in combination with coal dust, blew dirt and debris out the 330-foot main mine shaft just after 11 p. m. Twenty-nine miners working away from the explosion area tumbled out of the mine.

But 22 others—14 working on one seam, seven on another and a foreman who could have been with either group—did not appear. The area was a mile and three-quarters from the nearest mine opening.

A hurried call was put in for mine rescue crews, equipped with oxygen breathing apparatus. Teams rushed to the mine from Clarksburg and Fairmont. Five six-man teams were on the job before dawn.

Stephen Canonico, Clinchfield vice president, said the lead rescue team encountered traces of methane gas about 3,500 feet from the area in which the men were working. Blowers dispersed the deadly fumes.

The rescue groups penetrated to within 1,500 feet of the work area by dawn. Smoke thickened as the teams advanced. No rock falls were encountered and Canonico was hopeful the area of the trapped men could be reached in a matter of hours.

"If they were physically able, they would have tried to throw up a bulkhead or barrier," he said. "But in the circumstances, I don't know if they had the chance."

Names of the trapped men were not immediately available. Canonico said a list would be released after their fate is determined. All were local men from the Clarksburg area.

The Compass No. 2 mine, a shaft and drift operation as opposed to open surface mines, employs 185 men.

Ashville Man Fined $200 For OMVI

Ronald J. Freymuth, 21, Ashville, was charged today for operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants by Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Gene Kerns.

Cited into Municipal Court, Freymuth was found guilty by Judge Sterling M. Lamb. A fine of $200 plus costs and a 30-day jail sentence was levied by the Judge. He suspended 25 days of the sentence.

The defendant was placed on probation for one year. His operator's license was suspended for the same period.

Involved in a single car accident on Route 316 at the Ashville Corporation limits, Freymuth refused medical attention at Berger Hospital last night. He was taken there by Deputy Kerns.

In other city court action today, Carl M. Gwin, 19, of New York, charged with operating a motor vehicle without an operator's license, was handed a $100 fine. He was involved in an accident just west of Circleville on Route 22 Wednesday.

Russell E. Toland, 26, Ashville, was fined $50 and costs for parking on the highway. Deputy George Linder, arresting officer, told the court Toland's vehicle had been parked on the highway for a two-day period.

Patti Jo Herrin, 19, of Tarlton, charged with reckless operation by the Ohio State Highway Patrol, signed a waiver of court hearing and paid a $30 fine plus costs.

Motorists charged with speeding were:

Richard C. Tackett, 52, McDermit; $10 and costs for speeding 60 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Police Ponder Daylight Entry At Laundramat

Circleville Police were confronted yesterday with a switch from the normal routine concerning burglaries and illegal entries.

Most burglaries are committed during the night season. However, police have reason to believe an entry and theft Thursday at the Duds & Suds Laundramat on E. Franklin St. was pulled off in daylight.

Through checks with patrons of the laundramat, officers figure the entry was made between noon and 1:30 p. m. An estimated $140 in change was taken.

Patrolmen William Brungs and Jack Mills said locks and hasps were forced off a metal shield covering coin boxes. The boxes then were removed from the wall.

A similar theft at a Columbus laundramat was reported here, this one at 5 p. m. yesterday. Police are checking the possibilities of both jobs being pulled by the same intruders.

Objection Filed In Suit against Berger Hospital

A demurrer was filed today in the $35,000 suit of Charles Stonerock, Route 2, Williamsport, versus Berger Hospital.

The objection was filed against the case pending in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court by Robert H. Huffer and Kenneth Robbins, legal advisers for Pickaway County and Circleville respectively.

Stonerock is seeking the $35,000 judgment from the city-county hospital as the result of alleged circumstances and damages leading up to, and after, the birth of his son, Thomas Eugene Stonerock.

Named defendants of the suit were Berger Hospital and its representative bodies—the City of Circleville and County Commissioners, Wayne Hines, Clyde Michel and Lloyd Melvin.

The defendants' demurrer, yet to be acted upon by Judge William Ammer, objects to "Berger Hospital" being named as a party defendant.

They claim "Berger Hospital is not a separate entity capable of being sued; it is not an individual, a partnership, nor has it any corporate existence."

The objection says "Berger Hospital" is merely a name attached to a facility owned by the city and county under a contractual relationship between the two political subdivisions.

"It is merely a governmental function of the two subdivisions operated in the interest of the health and welfare of the county and city precisely the same as the Circleville Fire Department and the Courthouse," the legal documents state.

The defendants claim, therefore, that liability, if any, for negligence would fall directly back onto the city and county—being the governmental entities which operate "Berger Hospital".

Defendants of the court action ask that the demurrer be sustained by the court and that "Berger Hospital" be removed from the case as a party defendant.

Stock Market Prices Mixed

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market seemed to lack incentive to go anywhere in particular and prices were mixed, with a slightly lower tendency this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

Changes of most key stocks were fractional.

The trend was lower among the major steelmakers, rails, Big Three autos and drugs. Utilities were firm. Some of the airline stocks were up smartly on reports of higher profits. Selected chemicals posted fair gains.

The latest upward drive of the market seemed to be pretty well dampened by profit taking. At the same time, there was news of a decline in construction contracts.

Words in March from the like 1962 period, the first year-to-year decline in 15 months. The Census Bureau reported that retail trade fell below year ago levels in the past week for the first time this year.

Three CHS Students Compete In State Science Fair Today

TO STATE SCIENCE FAIR — These two CHS students look over rules and regulations for the State Science Fair being held today at Wilberforce University, Xenia. The students, Cynthia Thompson and Glenn Plum, in addition to Peter DeNeef, have entered projects in the state competition.

Three Circleville High School students today are attending the State Science Fair in conjunction with the 72nd annual meeting of the Ohio Academy of Science at Wilberforce University, Xenia.

The trio of CHS students are entering science projects, that received superior ratings at the Circleville Science Fair and in district competition held recently in the French Field House, Ohio State University.

Students taking part in the Science Fair are: Peter DeNeef, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. DeNeef, 987 Lynwood Ave., with his project "Magnetohydrodynamic Evaluation of a Radio Frequency Plasma"; Cynthia Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Thompson, 122 Collins Court, "Extra Sensory Perception"; and Glenn Plum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Plum, 610 Ridgewood Drive, "Termites."

DeNeef, who also was awarded a trip to the National Science Fair at Albuquerque, N. M., is scheduled to give a talk explaining his project at a meeting of the Junior Academy at the university.

DeNeef is a senior at CHS. Miss Thompson is a sophomore and Plum a freshman.

The United States hopes to make a manned flight to the moon before 1971.

History of Jet Propulsion Traced in Science Stage Show

Jet propulsion, which has enabled some airplanes to travel faster than the speed of sound, is over 2,200 years old.

And what's more, jet propulsion is not so difficult to understand after having seen Previews of Progress, the famed General Motors science stage show which was presented at Circleville and Logan Elm high schools on Monday and Tuesday.

The principle of jet propulsion was just one of the scientific demonstrations dramatically presented and explained in understandable terms during the 45-minute show.

Designed to stimulate interest in research and engineering — two fields in which there is a growing need for trained personnel — Previews seeks to inspire students to science careers.

Rich Olshove, one of two traveling lecturers, explained the origin of jet propulsion by demonstrating a replica of the aeolipile, invented about 200 B. C. by the Greek philosopher Hero. The aeolipile, or "Ball of Winds," uses steam as an energy source and is generally regarded as the world's first known jet engine.

The audience was quickly returned to the twentieth century the non-minature roar of a tiny pulse jet engine which has been the delight of young and old from coast to coast. The jet age was brought up-to-date with a demonstration of one of the most recent applications of jet propulsion — the gas turbine engine which is used in the Firebird III experimental gas turbine car.

Eight other demonstrations of new developments in science and engineering were included in the fast-moving stage show. This is one of seven teams presenting Previews of Progress to nearly two million persons each year in all sections of the United States.

A customer walked into a Plymouth dealership the other day and asked where he could get a Fury just like the one that beat Chevrolet and Ford in 8 out of 10 tests at Riverside. The Plymouth salesman grinned broadly and said, "Mister, you're leaning on one!" The point is, the exact model Plymouth that performed so well at Riverside—winning every acceleration test, the handling test, both passing-safety tests, and the gas economy test—is performing just as well for thousands of new Plymouth owners every day. (There's probably one sitting in your Plymouth Dealer's showroom this minute, with a 5-year/50,000-mile warranty* in the glove box.) See and drive the 1963 Plymouth!

At Plymouth's request, Nationwide Consumer Testing Institute purchased the test cars—a 1963 Chevrolet Impala V-8, Ford Galaxie "500" V-8, and Plymouth Fury V-8. They conducted every test and computed all results. See your Plymouth Dealer for illustrated Official Results Booklet.

USES OF MYLAR — Dr. F. L. Boyer addresses Logan Elm High School students on the "End Use of Mylar" during a high school visitation yesterday at the local Du Pont plant. Following the talk and showing of "Mylar" samples, the tour was concluded by a film on Du Pont chemistry entitled "The Unseen Harvesters."

STUDENTS TOUR DU PONT — These Logan Elm High School students leave the local Du Pont building after touring the plant, offices and grounds. More than 400 high school students in this area participated in visits to the plant this week in connection with the observance of Chemical Progress Week.

History of Jet Propulsion Traced in Science Stage Show

Jet propulsion, which has enabled some airplanes to travel faster than the speed of sound, is over 2,200 years old.

And what's more, jet propulsion is not so difficult to understand after having seen Previews of Progress, the famed General Motors science stage show which was presented at Circleville and Logan Elm high schools on Monday and Tuesday.

The principle of jet propulsion was just one of the scientific demonstrations dramatically presented and explained in understandable terms during the 45-minute show.

Designed to stimulate interest in research and engineering — two fields in which there is a growing need for trained personnel — Previews seeks to inspire students to science careers.

Rich Olshove, one of two traveling lecturers, explained the origin of jet propulsion by demonstrating a replica of the aeolipile, invented about 200 B. C. by the Greek philosopher Hero. The aeolipile, or "Ball of Winds," uses steam as an energy source and is generally regarded as the world's first known jet engine.

The audience was quickly returned to the twentieth century the non-mimic roar of a tiny pulse jet engine which has been the delight of young and old from coast to coast. The jet age was brought up-to-date with a demonstration of one of the most recent applications of jet propulsion — the gas turbine engine which is used in the Firebird III experimental gas turbine car.

Eight other demonstrations of new developments in science and engineering were included in the fast-moving stage show. This is one of seven teams presenting Previews of Progress to nearly two million persons each year in all sections of the United States.

Party Planned After Prom

The School Beat Three CHS Students Compete In State Science Fair Today

TO STATE SCIENCE FAIR — These two CHS students look over rules and regulations for the State Science Fair being held today at Wilberforce University, Xenia. The students, Cynthia Thompson and Glenn Plum, in addition to Peter DeNeef, have entered projects in the state competition.

Three Circleville High School students today are attending the State Science Fair in conjunction with the 72nd annual meeting of the Ohio Academy of Science at Wilberforce University, enia.

The trio of CHS students are entering science projects, that received superior ratings at the Circleville Science Fair and in district competition held recently in the French Field House, Ohio State University.

Students taking part in the Science Fair are: Peter DeNeef, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. DeNeef, 987 Lynwood Ave., with his project "Magnetohydrodynamic Evaluation of a Radio Frequency Plasma"; Cynthia Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Thompson, 122 Collins Court, "Extra Sensory Perception"; and Glenn Plum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Plum, 610 Ridgewood Drive, "Termites."

DeNeef, who also was awarded a trip to the National Science Fair at Albuquerque, N. M., is scheduled to give a talk explaining his project at a meeting of the Junior Academy at the university.

DeNeef is a senior at CHS. Miss Thompson is a sophomore and Plum a freshman.

Yes. The exact model Plymouth that beat Chevrolet and Ford can be in your driveway tomorrow.

A customer walked into a Plymouth dealership the other day and asked where he could get a Fury just like the one that beat Chevrolet and Ford in 8 out of 10 tests at Riverside. The Plymouth salesman grinned broadly and said, "Mister, you're leaning on one!" The point is, the exact model Plymouth that performed so well at Riverside—winning every acceleration test, the handling test, both passing-safety tests, and the gas economy test—is performing just as well for thousands of new Plymouth owners every day. (There's probably one sitting in your Plymouth Dealer's showroom this minute, with a 5-year/50,000-mile warranty* in the glove box.) See and drive the 1963 Plymouth!

At Plymouth's request, Nationwide Consumer Testing Institute purchased the test cars—a 1963 Chevrolet Impala V-8, Ford Galaxie "500" V-8, and Plymouth Fury V-8. They conducted every test and computed all results. See your Plymouth Dealer for illustrated Official Results Booklet.

Things Happen When Gap Found

By John Chamberlain

"Well, sir," said Noahcount Webster, the famous lexicographer. "I'm happy that you came to me. I'm the only one who can explain to you what goes on in Washington these days."

Since Samuel Johnson had defined a lexicographer as a "harmless drudge that busies himself in tracing the origins of words," this seemed a little arrogant for old Noahcount. But we could see that he would brook no opposition.

"You see," said Noahcount, "nothing can happen here until somebody has discovered the existence of a gap. It may be a weapons gap, or a gap between the amount of money we have in our pockets now and the amount we might have if we really gave old Johann Gutenberg's invention of printing half a chance, or a gap between jobs and the number of workers available to fill them, even though some of the job-hunters happen to be oyster shuckers who wouldn't prune a tree or deliver a package if you asked 'em. Well, that's about it, the gap comes first."

"Once you've got a gap," the old fellow continued, peering up over his hexagonal lenses, "then you have to have a dialogue. In the old days around here people used to have arguments, but now everybody's more refined. Maybe it's the Harvard influence. People have to behave like they are taking parts in a play, even though they may hate each other's guts. So the dialogue is held, and everyone takes on sort of refined - like over the subject of the gap. Naturally the gap is lost sight of as the words fill it up. And while the dialogue proceeds, some one fires off a rocket or tests a new bomb or comes up with an idea that makes for a lot of new jobs, so the gap isn't the same tomorrow as it was yesterday. Nevertheless, the dialogue continues."

"Well, like I say, in the old days it was the custom for people who had gone dialoguing to spend at least half their time listening to the other fellow. If they refused to listen, it was called a monologue. But today, dialogue can mean monologue, too. The really modern idea of a dialogue is to have two monologues going simultaneously. One fellow will stand up and say that you can become prosperous by just adding twelve billion to the federal debt. The other fellow will say that an inflationary diet leaves you just where you were, or just a little worse off because you have to pay interest on the inflation. Neither one of these fellows ever listens to the other. So the dialogue never gets anywhere. It's just as if Harpo Marx was talking to the Great Stone Face."

"Well, the dialogue goes on until the time comes for action. Only nobody here uses the word action any more. Everything today is a thrust. A political writer speaks of the necessity for the 'presidential Republicans' to 're-direct the thrust of national debate.' The 'presidential Republicans,' incidentally, refers to those who intend to vote for Nelson Rockefeller, not for Barry Goldwater. It doesn't matter that Rockefeller's only a governor now, he's still a 'presidential Republican.' Anyway, like I was saying, you develop a thrust, which means that you terminate the dialogue over the gap and try to round up the votes. Your thrust may not get anywhere, for there will be thrusts coming to you from all directions. Every Congressional committee has a chairman with a thrust of his own. The President has a thrust. The lobbyists have thrusts. Because of all the thrusts that come after the dialogue, you get a tax bill in September that you might have had in April in the days when people just had arguments and then settled them by voting."

"Well, what about the gap," we asked, "does it ever get closed?"

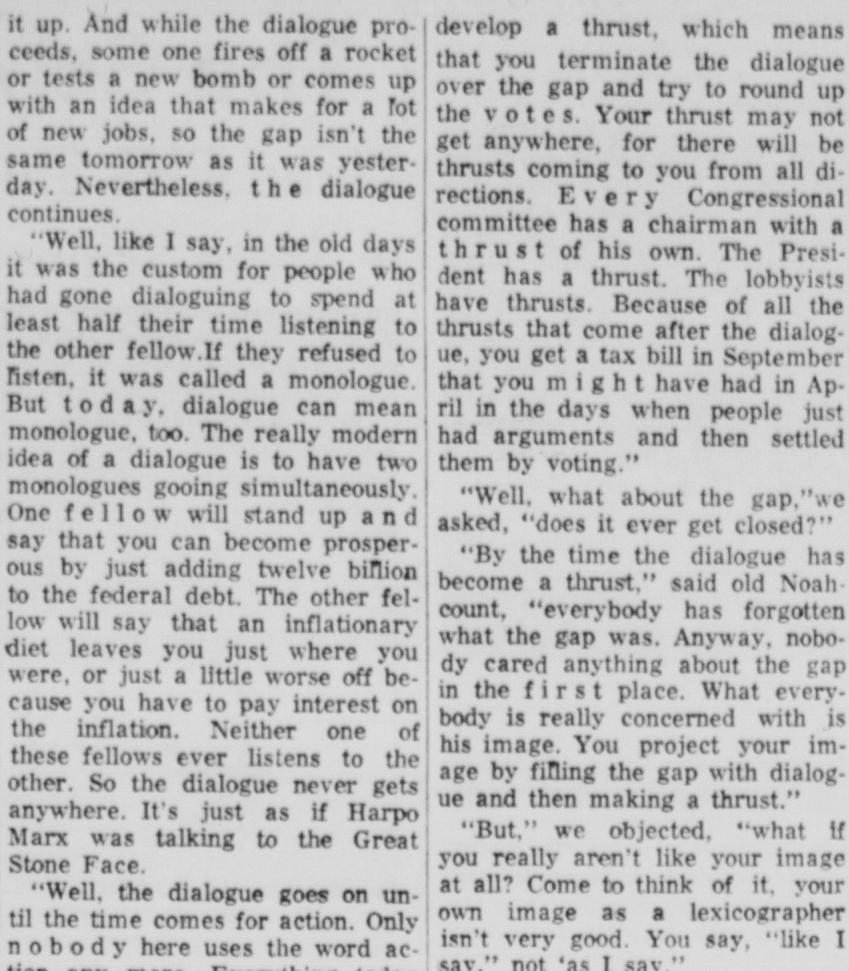

"By the time the dialogue has become a thrust," said old Noahcount, "everybody has forgotten what the gap was. Anyway, nobody cared anything about the gap in the first place. What everybody is really concerned with is his image. You project your image by filling the gap with dialogue and then making a thrust."

"But," we objected, "what if you really aren't like your own image at all? Come to think of it, your own image as a lexicographer isn't very good. You say, 'like I say,' not 'as I say.'"

"In a modern lexicographer," said old Noahcount Webster, "Haven't you heard of the brand that tastes good like a cigarette should? Like I say, there's a gap between what you were taught in school and what is considered the correct thing now, and you'd better develop some thrust about getting hep. A little dialogue about this might help improve your image."

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP)—Business is catching up with capacity in some overbuilt industries. And orders for new machine tools are pouring in at last.

That is the happy interpretation which many makers of factory equipment put on the recent spurt in orders after several years of coasting along.

Excess capacity has been the plants and equipment. Such spending is a strong booster in a growing economy. And economists put great significance on signs that spending is turning up now, along with the two other props: consumer and government spending.

Some of the jump in machine tool orders in the last two months could be chalked up to old age. A lot of the present equipment may look obsolete in an era of keen competition, especially when a better chance for selling finished products is sighted.

And some of the new orders probably have been sparked by the increase of cash in tills of companies taking advantage of new depreciation tax savings, or influenced by the 7 per cent tax credit incentive for modernizing their factories. Congress voted the incentive last year with the aim of getting business spending climbing again.

Whatever the cause, machine tool makers believe that 1963 has seen a turn in their fortunes. They prospered greatly in the mid-1950s when U.S. industry went on a spree of expansion of plants and buying of new equipment for these and for old ones.

The National Machine Tool Builders Association in Cleveland reports that industry orders in March rose to $73,350,000 from $72,550,000 in February, and was $10 million higher than a year ago.

Cutting tool orders of $48.3 million in March were the highest for any month since June 1959. This brought orders for the first three months of the year to $139,850,000, highest for any quarter since 1957.

April orders are reported to have continued at the same high rate.

Increased domestic orders were helped along by a spurt in foreign orders, which had been slipping since November 1961, when several of the industrially developed nations were completing their big postwar buildup.

Tool makers say much of their increased overseas business has come from underdeveloped countries getting U.S. foreign aid funds for new industries.

Taken with announced intentions of many companies to step up expansion and modernization programs this year, the dollars-and-cents evidence of increased machine tool orders could be pointing to a nice advance in business spending ahead. Government spending is sure to rise at various levels. And consumers give every sign of increasing their outlays a bit more, too.

Rocky Mountain Fruit Crop Reported Ruined

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—A late-season frost on the Western Slope of the Rocky Mountains wiped out most of Colorado's fruit crop, causing a loss of more than $6 million.

Paul W. Swisher, state agriculture commissioner, reported this Wednesday. He said more than 1,100 families depend on their income on peach, cherry and apricot crops.

Swisher said the fruit was damaged extensively by the severe winter, "and what was left was wiped out by a late frost last Thursday."

Anyway, nobody cared anything about the gap in the first place. What everybody is really concerned with is his image. You project your image by filling the gap with dialogue and then making a thrust."

"But," we objected, "what if you really aren't like your image at all? Come to think of it, your own image as a lexicographer isn't very good. You say, 'like I say,' not 'as I say.'" "I'm a modern lexicographer," said old Noahcount Webster. "Haven't you heard of the brand that tastes good like a cigarette should? Like I say, there's a gap between what you were taught in school and what is considered the correct thing now, and you'd better develop some thrust about getting hep. A little dialogue about this might help improve your image."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

For Centuries, various fruits, vegetables and herbs were used by certain tribes for treatment of infection of the veins of the legs. Failure or success was established by trial and error.

Sometimes it takes many years to explain scientifically the reason for the success of such unscientific treatment.

Recently, a chemical was found in potatoes that seemed to be very effective in the treatment of thrombophlebitis or infections of the veins of the leg. A study done in Prague showed distinct clinical improvement in twenty-four to thirty-six hours after the beginning of the treatment.

Of course existing methods of treating this condition will certainly be continued, but it is stimulating to observe the avenues of scientific investigation.

The American Medical Association has begun an important project for the rapid identification of drug capsules whose contents are unknown.

Emergency room personnel are often baffled in their attempts to identify drug capsules in cases of poisoning. With the proposed plan, life-saving measures can begin without delay.

Here are some facts and figures that are truly an index of the hope that lies in American and scientific achievement.

In the year 1890 only 3 per cent of the population was 65 years or older. In 1963, 9 per cent of the population is 65 years or older. Medical and surgical advances have made this possible.

Such heartening statistics should dissipate the false shadow of fear that surround those who live in terror of illness.

"Fan Clubs" are being organized all over America for the prevention of polio. Charter members are dedicated to the immunization of everybody in America against poliomyelitis.

A resourceful and energetic doctor in El Paso, Texas, has immunized almost the entire city against polio.

The only requirement for membership in these health "fan clubs" is the knowledge that prevention if polio is possible if you make it so.

The recovery of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower from a severe heart attack is a symbol of hope and faith in medical progress.

For years, a special regime of treatment with an anticoagulant drug has been maintained. This drug reduces the clotting mechanism of blood and is said to re-open the blood vessels of the heart that were affected during coronary thrombosis.

Constant studies on patients all over the world are being made to further evaluate the advantages of this form of anticoagulant treatment after a coronary heart attack.

Every form of treatment that is responsible for Mr. Eisenhower's maintained health is available to everyone everywhere.

NEW YORK (AP)—Business is catching up with capacity in some overbuilt industries. And orders for new machine tools are pouring in at last.

That is the happy interpretation which many makers of factory equipment put on the recent spurt in orders after several years of coasting along.

Excess capacity has been the plants and equipment. Such spending is a strong booster in a growing economy. And economists put great significance on signs that spending is turning up now, along with the two other props: consumer and government spending.

Some of the jump in machine tool orders in the last two months could be chalked up to old age. A lot of the present equipment may look obsolete in an era of keen competition, especially when a better chance for selling finished products is sighted.

And some of the new orders probably have been sparked by the increase of cash in tills of companies taking advantage of new depreciation tax savings, or influenced by the 7 per cent tax credit incentive for modernizing their factories. Congress voted the incentive last year with the aim of getting business spending climbing again.

Whatever the cause, machine tool makers believe that 1963 has seen a turn in their fortunes. They prospered greatly in the mid-1950s when U.S. industry went on a spree of expansion of plants and buying of new equipment for these and for old ones.

The National Machine Tool Builders Association in Cleveland reports that industry orders in March rose to $73,350,000 from $72,550,000 in February, and was $10 million higher than a year ago.

Cutting tool orders of $48.3 million in March were the highest for any month since June 1959. This brought orders for the first three months of the year to $159,850,000, highest for any quarter since 1957.

April orders are reported to have continued at the same high rate. Increased domestic orders were helped along by a spurt in foreign orders, which had been slipping since November 1961, when several of the industrially developed nations were completing their big postwar buildup.

Tool makers say much of their increased overseas business has come from underdeveloped countries getting U.S. foreign aid funds for new industries.

Taken with announced intentions of many companies to step up expansion and modernization programs this year, the dollars-and-cents evidence of increased machine tool orders could be pointing to a nice advance in business spending ahead. Government spending is sure to rise at various levels. And consumers give every sign of increasing their outlays a bit more, too.

Rocky Mountain Fruit Crop Reported Ruined

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—A late-season frost on the Western Slope of the Rocky Mountains wiped out most of Colorado's fruit crop, causing a loss of more than $6 million.

Paul W. Swisher, state agriculture commissioner, reported this Wednesday. He said more than 1,100 families depend for their income on peach, cherry and apricot crops.

Swisher said the fruit was damaged extensively by the severe winter, "and what was left was wiped out by a late frost last Thursday."

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Today is Friday, April 26, the 116th day of 1963. There are 249 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this day in 1862, William Mumford became the only man executed for treason during the Civil War because he hauled down the U.S. flag from atop the New Orleans mint.

On this day—
In 1607, Captain John Smith was among the English colonists who landed at Cape Henry to establish the first settlement in Virginia.
In 1731, death came to Daniel DeFoe, author of Robinson Crusoe.

In 1865, President Abraham Lincoln's assassin, John Wilkes Booth, was killed.

In 1930, Col. Charles Lindbergh inaugurated airmail service between Miami and Havana.

In 1954, the Geneva Conference to restore peace in Asia was opened.

Today's birthdays:
Novelist Anita Loos is 70. Former South Korean President Syngman Rhee is 88.

Thought for today:
It is difficult to make a man miserable while he feels he is worthy of himself and claims kinship to the great God who made him—Abraham Lincoln.

Youngsters will enjoy frosting doughnuts for a party. Make up a big batch of confectioners' sugar frosting, then divide into three bowls. Flavor one batch with grated orange rind and color with orange food coloring. Flavor another batch with peppermint extract and color a pale green. Flavor the third batch with cocoa and vanilla.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

From the Front Office!

DEAR ABBY: You were wrong when you said "the customer is always right" in regard to the air-conditioning in a restaurant. It is far easier to get customers than it is to get a good waitress. If the waitress wants it cooler, we make it cooler. And we serve hot coffee for the customers who need it.

IN BUSINESS 30 YEARS

DEAR ABBY: Just read the complaint from CHILLED. I have been an air-conditioning engineer for years so can speak with some authority on the subject. In eating places where the hostess stands still, she is cold. The waitress who rushes around is hot. The customers are both cold and hot. The younger ones who get up and dance are hot. On ships, the woman with the baby says you are giving her baby pneumonia. The man in the next stateroom says it is so stifling he is getting seasick.

Nuts to Everybody!

SOURPUSS ENGINEER

DEAR ABBY: One of my sons

has been taking money from my purse since childhood. He is now 18 and is about to graduate from high school. We are still unable to leave money around without having it "disappear." He seldom admits to taking it, but there is no question about his guilt. We've tried reasoning with him, punishing him and even increasing his allowance. Nothing works. Can you suggest any other methods to break him of this habit?

ANXIOUS MOTHER

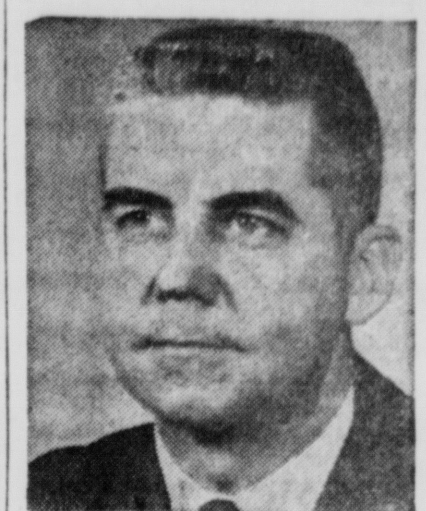

DEAR MOTHER: Psychiatrists tell us that many youngsters steal money because they feel cheated of love or affection. The money fills the real or imagined void. Your son appears to need professional help.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DISAPPOINTED FATHER: If you will pull a few wires while your children are growing up, you won't have to pull any strings to get them into a "good" college. (Suggested wires to pull: television, hi-fi and telephone.)

Some women are born glamorous, some achieve glamour, but none have had glamour thrust on them. Usually, it takes hard work, loving care and an unbounded enthusiasm to achieve the desired result. Though your attitude to life has much to do with your ultimate effectiveness, there are many surface things, too, that you can do to improve yourself.

Being aware that you look your best often touches off an inner feeling of self confidence and . . . presto! all of a sudden you are glamorous.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Today is Friday, April 26, the 116th day of 1963. There are 249 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this day in 1862, William Mumford became the only man executed for treason during the Civil War because he hauled down the U.S. flag from atop the New Orleans mint.

On this day— In 1607, Captain John Smith was among the English colonists who landed at Cape Henry to establish the first settlement in Virginia. In 1731, death came to Daniel DeFoe, author of Robinson Crusoe.

In 1865, President Abraham Lincoln's assassin, John Wilkes Booth, was killed.

In 1930, Col. Charles Lindbergh inaugurated airmail service between Miami and Havana.

In 1954, the Geneva Conference to restore peace in Asia was opened.

Today's birthdays: Novelist Anita Loos is 70. Former South Korean President Syngman Rhee is 88.

Thought for today: It is difficult to make a man miserable while he feels he is worthy of himself and claims kinred to the great God who made him—Abraham Lincoln.

Flavor one batch with grated orange rind and color with orange food coloring. Flavor another batch with peppermint extract and color a pale green. Flavor the third batch with cocoa and vanilla.

Tackle Spring Cleaning with Order and Vigor

"Dog - tired" from spring cleaning? You needn't be!

For the sake of all about to flex their "polishing," "scrubbing" and "shining" muscles, here are some timely tips to help make the age-old chore successful and even pleasant.

To begin with, don't set a specific date for the start of the proceedings. Just thinking about all that has to be done is enough to make you droop. Wait till the mood moves you.

One bright, sunny day, you'll wake up full of pep and ambition and that's the time to get going on the job.

Have a good he-man breakfast and then line up your tools. Be selective. Don't overload yourself with superfluous equipment. For you'll wear yourself out just juggling the gear around. Stick to basic essentials for each job.

For instance, one good wax is all you'll need if it's a hard paste wax that contains carnauba. It may require a little more elbow grease than some other types, but it retains its luster longer and can be used on floors, furniture and even marble.

You'll do nicely with one good all-purpose cleaner, too, such as sal soda concentrated, that ancient household cleaning aid. Just vary your method of application slightly as needed.

A sal soda solution made up of about three tablespoons of the sal to a quart of warm water should take care of washing windows, cleaning tile surfaces, porcelain fixtures in the kitchen and bathroom, stainless steel surfaces and stationary plastic pieces such as formica table tops and kitchen cabinet fronts. A weaker solution will take care of finger print smudges on woodwork.

These all call for the swabdown technique, but if greater power is needed for sticky spots that have set, the sal can be used dry and applied with a cellulose sponge as a scourer. It's a good trick!

Soft plastics such as toaster covers and shower curtains can be soaked in a sal solution.

Most of the metal surfaces in your home, including silver, respond well to whitening, an old-fashioned product, applied with a little household ammonia or alcohol.

Streamline your procedures, too. Work on one room at a time and break down this division still further by doing jobs that call for the same tools and cleaners at the same time.

Don't drive yourself. Take a breather from time to time. Have a cup of coffee, a nibble of cheese or a cookie to restore your burnt-up energy.

Follow this formula and you may not be so weary, so "all in," at the end of a day devoted to spring cleaning.

Your Beauty Guide

by Phyllis Atwood

Some women are born glamorous, some achieve glamour, but none have had glamour thrust on them. Usually, it takes hard work, loving care and an unbounded enthusiasm to achieve the desired result. Though your attitude to life has much to do with your ultimate effectiveness, there are many surface things, too, that you can do to improve yourself.

Being aware that you look your best often touches off an inner feeling of self confidence and... presto! all of a sudden you are glamorous.

Dear Abby:

by Abigail Van Buren

From the Front Office!

DEAR ABBY: You were wrong when you said "the customer is always right" in regard to the air conditioning in a restaurant. It is far easier to get customers than it is to get a good waitress. If the waitress wants it cooler, we make it cooler. And we serve hot coffee for the customers who need it.

IN BUSINESS 30 YEARS

DEAR ABBY: Just read the complaint from CHILLED. I have been an air-conditioning engineer for years so can speak with some authority on the subject. In eating places where the hostess stands still, she is cold. The waitress who rushes around is hot. The customers are both cold and hot. The younger ones who get up and dance are hot. On ships, the woman with the baby says you are giving her baby pneumonia. The man in the next stateroom says it is so stifling he is getting seasick.

Nuts to Everybody!

SOURPUSS ENGINEER

has been taking money from my purse since childhood. He is now 18 and is about to graduate from high school. We are still unable to leave money around without having it "disappear." He seldom admits to taking it, but there is no question about his guilt. We've tried reasoning with him, punishing him and even increasing his allowance. Nothing works. Can you suggest any other methods to break him of this habit?

ANXIOUS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Psychiatrists tell us that many youngsters steal money because they feel cheated of love or affection. The money fills the real or imagined void. Your son appears to need professional help.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DISAPPOINTED FATHER: If you will pull a few wires while your children are growing up, you won't have to pull any strings to get them into a "good" college. (Suggested wires to pull: television, hi-fi and telephone.)

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Ohio Puzzle Experts Help Leading Scientist

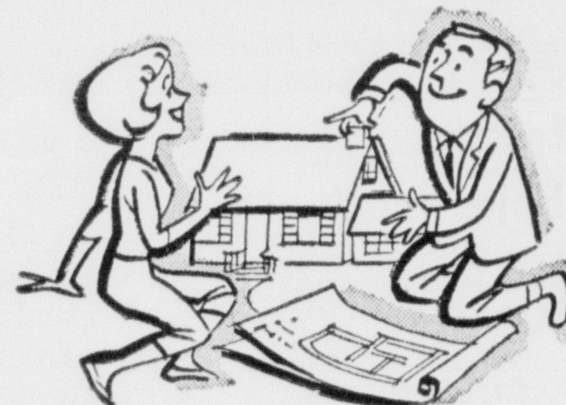

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two young Ohio puzzle experts gave a helping hand here Wednesday to a Nobel prize-winning scientist, Frederick Walker of Toledo and David Agricola, Newcomerstown, both high school juniors, acted as working assistants to Dr. William Shockley who illustrated a new concept of teaching.

Shockley's report to the annual meeting of the National Academy of Sciences suggested "mental tools for scientific thinking at the high school level, including puzzle-solving."

He was a co-winner of a Nobel prize in physics for the creation of the transistor at Bell Telephone Laboratories.

'Positive Thinking' Is Help In Producing Peale Movie

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It's lucky that Frank Ross believes in the power of positive thinking. Otherwise he might despair of ever producing his pictures.

Take "The Robe." Ross tried 11 years to make it into a movie. He was first set to do it at RKO, then Howard Hughes bought the studio. He couldn't get a decision from the elusive Mr. Hughes.

When he finally wrested the property from RKO, he signed for deals with MGM, Warner Brothers and Universal. Each time the project failed.

Then he took it to 20th Century-Fox. His luck turned at last. The studio made "The Robe" as the first feature in Cinemascope. Ross filmed it for $3.7 million and reports that it grossed $30 million.

Ross is now finishing another picture on a religious theme, "The Story of Norman Peale." He worked only four years on this one.

The story is about the New York clergyman.

The producer first came across the Peale legend through a Reader's Digest article, "Minister to Millions." He read up on the minister, found his own philosophy coincided with Peale's.

Ross went to work on a screen treatment. He took his time; the

Living Costs Climb Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—Living costs edged up one-tenth of one per cent in March to a record.

Higher costs of used cars, clothing and home ownership items, principally real estate taxes and water rates, boosted the Labor Department's consumers price index to 106.2 per cent of the 1957-59 average.

The old high of 106.1 in the index was first reached last September and also stood at that level in February.

While establishing a living cost peak, the March rise was so slight in practical effect on the household budget as to be almost insignificant. It means that it cost $10.62 in March to buy the same goods and services that cost $10.61 in February.

Local Baha'i Group Lists Weekly Thought

The following is from Baha'i writings: "True liberty consisteth in man's submission unto My commandments, little as ye know it. The liberty that profiteth you is to be found nowhere except in complete servitude with God, the eternal truth. Whoso hath tasted of its sweetness will refuse to barter it for all the dominion of earth and heaven."

Onetime Gambler Now Head Of Mission in Arkansas

BLITHEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—One night in 1963, Paul Kirkindall propped a Bible against the twin beer spigots of his tavern and began preaching the Gospel.

Since that time he has spent $31,000 of his own funds in a new career as pastor of this town's most despoiled citizens.

Once a gambler known over the Southern and Midwestern states, Paul Kirkindall underwent a sudden transformation.

Today he heads Blitheville's Mississippi County Union Mission which has an annual budget of $31,000. The mission is governed by some of the area's most prominent business and professional men. It serves thousands of poor people in northeast Arkansas and southeast Missouri.

He preaches six or seven sermons a week; visits hospitals; personally screens applicants for food and clothing; calls regularly at jails and the county farm and confers with law enforcement officers.

Kirkindall, 52, has done his job so well that last month he was offered an annual salary of $10,000, plus a home, car and certain expenses to take over a mission in an Eastern city.

"I don't think the Lord wanted me to go," Kirkindall said.

He makes $300 a month in his present job. Kirkindall stands 5-foot-10 and weighs 200 pounds. He has a voice like a carnival barker and he talks just as fast.

"People will listen to me sometimes," Kirkindall said. "people in college towns, people a lot smarter than I am. And do you know why?

"Because once they learn what I was and then get some idea of what I stand for today, they know I've just gotta be sincere."

His about-face took him completely by surprise, says Kirkindall.

"I was making good money as a gambler. I wasn't broke. I was drinking too much though. A good gambler shouldn't drink."

But one night Kirkindall accompanied his wife to church.

"I thought every word that preacher said was directed toward me and I was burned up. I figured I'd beat this guy up some day."

And then, he said, when the invitation was given to come forward, "I found myself walking down the aisle to the front of the church. I thought, 'This is crazy. Don't go down there.' But I couldn't help it and I went up there and gave myself to Christ."

As soon as he got out of church he locked the doors to his small tavern and suspended gambling in the pool hall which was under his management.

He quit drinking, bought a Bible and began a series of speaking appearances in churches over Arkansas, Texas and Missouri.

Usually he didn't even make expenses.

Kirkindall's mission has long since outgrown his tavern where he once stood behind the bar each evening and preached to a handful of people. Presently the mission is a large structure in Blitheville's business district. The

Next Refugee Ship Is Delayed in Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Red Cross says the S.S. American Surveyor, now unloading ransom supplies in Cuba, will not return to this country with refugees until at least next Monday.

Roy Popkin, of Red Cross national headquarters, said he knows of no reason for the delay.

The freighter, which took 8,000 tons of drugs, medical supplies and baby food to Havana last week, is scheduled to bring about 1,000 more refugees to the United States.

The ship is the sixth to carry such cargo to Cuba in exchange for the release of 1,110 Bay of Pigs invaders last December.

A MIRACLE

Did you ever hold in your hand a rose, a plant, or even a tiny seed and wonder where its beauty comes from? Or did you plant a seed and watch, day by day, and marvel at nature's way? How miraculous are the ways of nature; so beautiful that man can never fashion or create a rival.

Another word for nature, of course, is God. He creates. Beauty in all its forms comes from Him, and to us they are given; nature's bounties, we call them.

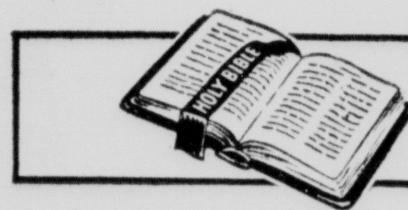

When you go to church this Sunday, say another word of "thanks" for all that is good, all that is beautiful; all that you possess!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'Positive Thinking' Is Help In Producing Peale Movie

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It's lucky that Frank Ross believes in the power of positive thinking. Otherwise he might despair of ever producing his pictures.

Take "The Robe." Ross tried 11 years to make it into a movie. He was first set to do it at RKO, then Howard Hughes bought the studio. He couldn't get a decision from the elusive Mr. Hughes.

When he finally wrested the property from RKO, he signed for deals with MGM, Warner Brothers and Universal. Each time the project failed.

Then he took it to 20th Century-Fox. His luck turned at last. The studio made "The Robe" as the first feature in Cinemascope. Ross filmed it for $3.7 million and reports that it grossed $30 million.

Ross is now finishing another picture on a religious theme, "The Story of Norman Peale." He worked only four years on this one.

The story is about the New York clergyman.

The producer first came across the Peale legend through a Reader's Digest article, "Minister to Millions." He read up on the minister, found his own philosophy coincided with Peale's.

Ross went to work on a screen treatment. He took his time; the income from the "The Robe" provided the luxury of leisure. The story was ready to film two years ago, but Peale's participation in presidential politics made the timing unfavorable. Until now.

"I'm glad I waited," said Ross. "I have become a firm believer that there is a time for everything. Delays may seem bothersome at the time, but they are often for the best. That was certainly true for 'The Robe.' And I believe it is true for the Peale story. His views have much more acceptance now from persons of every faith than they did two or four years ago."

The script covers the Peale years from his youth as a newspaper reporter and his calling to the ministry up to his emergence as controversial author of a best-seller.

Ross has cannily filmed "The Story of Norman Peale" for a reasonable $800,000 and plans to give it a special sell. He feels a movie that deals with man's relationship to God should attract a wide audience of all creeds.

The Law Auditorium at Cornell University is not in the Law School but in the Veterinary College. It was named after the veterinary professor at the college, James Law.

Living Costs Climb Again

WASHINGTON (AP)—Living costs edged up one-tenth of one per cent in March to a record.

Higher costs of used cars, clothing and home ownership items, principally real estate taxes and water rates, boosted the Labor Department's consumers price index to 106.2 per cent of the 1957-59 average.

The old high of 106.1 in the index was first reached last September and also stood at that level in February.

While establishing a living cost peak, the March rise was so slight in practical effect on the household budget as to be almost insignificant. It means that it cost $10.62 in March to buy the same goods and services that cost $10.61 in February.

Local Baha'i Group Lists Weekly Thought

The following is from Baha'i writings: "True liberty consisteth in man's submission unto My commandments, little as ye know it. The liberty that profiteth you is to be found nowhere except in complete servitude with God, the eternal truth. Whoso hath tasted of its sweetness will refuse to barter it for all the dominion of earth and heaven."

Onetime Gambler Now Head Of Mission in Arkansas

BLYTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—One night in 1953, Paul Kirkindall propped a Bible against the twin beer spigots of his tavern and began preaching the Gospel.

Since that time he has spent $31,000 of his own funds in a new career as pastor of this town's most spirited citizens.

Once a gambler known over the Southern and Midwestern states, Paul Kirkindall underwent a sudden transformation.

Today he heads Blytheville's Mississippi County Union Mission which has an annual budget of $31,000. The mission is governed by some of the area's most prominent business and professional men. It serves thousands of poor people in northeast Arkansas and southeast Missouri.

He preaches six or seven sermons a week; visits hospitals; personally screens applicants for food and clothing; calls regularly at jails and the county farm and confers with law enforcement officers.

Kirkindall, 52, has done his job so well that last month he was offered an annual salary of $10,000, plus a home, car and certain expenses to take over a mission in an Eastern city.

"I don't think the Lord wanted me to go," Kirkindall said.

He makes $300 a month in his present job.

Kirkindall stands 5-foot-10 and weighs 200 pounds. He has a voice like a carnival barker and he talks just as fast.

"People will listen to me sometimes," Kirkindall said, "people in college towns, people a lot smarter than I am. And do you know why?"

"Because once they learn what I was and then get some idea of what I stand for today, they know I've just gotta be sincere."

His about-face took him completely by surprise, says Kirkindall.

"I was making good money as a gambler. I wasn't broke. I was drinking too much though. A good gambler shouldn't drink."

But one night Kirkindall accompanied his wife to church.

"I thought every word that preacher said was directed toward me and I was burned up. I figured I'd beat this guy up some day."

And then, he said, when the invitation was given to come forward, "I found myself walking down the aisle to the front of the church. I thought, 'This is crazy. Don't go down there.' But I couldn't help it and I went up there and gave myself to Christ."

As soon as he got out of church he locked the doors to his small tavern and suspended gambling in the pool hall which was under his management.

He quit drinking, bought a Bible and began a series of speaking appearances in churches over Arkansas, Texas and Missouri.

Usually he didn't even make expenses.

Kirkindall's mission has long since outgrown his tavern where he once stood behind the bar each evening and preached to a handful of people. Presently the mission is a large structure in Blytheville's business district. The

Next Refugee Ship Is Delayed in Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Red Cross says the S.S. American Surveyor, now unloading ransom supplies in Cuba, will not return to this country with refugees until at least next Monday.

Roy Popkin, of Red Cross national headquarters, said he knows of no reason for the delay.

The freighter, which took 8,000 tons of drugs, medical supplies and baby food to Havana last week, is scheduled to bring about 1,000 more refugees to the United States.

The ship is the sixth to carry such cargo to Cuba in exchange for the release of 1,110 Bay of Pigs invaders last December.

A MIRACLE

Did you ever hold in your hand a rose, a plant, or even a tiny seed and wonder where its beauty comes from? Or did you plant a seed and watch, day by day, and marvel at nature's way? How miraculous are the ways of nature; so beautiful that man can never fashion or create a rival.

Another word for nature, of course, is God. He creates. Beauty in all its forms comes from Him, and to us they are given; nature's bounties, we call them.

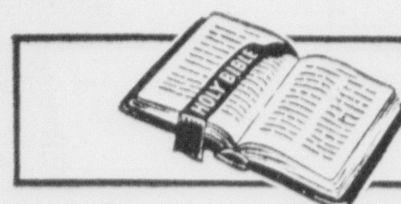

When you go to church this Sunday, say another word of "thanks" for all that is good, all that is beautiful; all that you possess!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

ALL FOR THE CHURCH

Psalms Of Personal Trust

THE PSALMIST'S TESTIMONY TO HIS EXPERIENCE OF GOD'S PROTECTING CARE

Scripture—Psalms 23:46.

By N. SPEER JONES

IN THIS LESSON we study two of the most famous of all the Psalms. The reason for their fame is to be found in the title of our lesson: the twenty-third, especially, is often memorized, even by the very young, to provide a source of strength and faith in troubled times to come.

David's image of the Lord as a shepherd is one which appealed strongly to Christ; therefore we find it liberally in the pages of the New Testament. It also made its way into pictorial art, perhaps at first on the walls of the early catacombs. Later the image was symbolized in the bishop's crook.

The idea of the shepherd's goodness, which reaches its zenith in the twenty-third to shelter them from the noon-day heat. Thus the same practices and the same geography have remained for at least three thousand years, for this psalm was written about 1025 B.C.

In this famous psalm, notice that the first and most important blessing given us by our Shepherd is rest (verse 2). This points up even more the importance of our Sabbath as a day of rest.

The psalm goes on to detail the additional blessings of restoration of soul, guidance, divine companionship, protection, correction, a promise of provision in time of danger, of bounty and of the continuance of these blessings throughout eternity.

The "rod" and "staff" mentioned have caused considerable psalm, goes as far back as Genesis 4:2, where we learn that Abel was a shepherd. Isaiah 40:11 refers to God as shepherd. In Zechariah 13:7 we find a Messianic passage predicting Christ's role as shepherd. In the New Testament we find this concept developed in Matthew 26:31, John 10:2-16, Hebrews 13:20 and others.

The sheep in Palestine are gathered at night into a yard enclosed with a wall which is surmounted by thorn bushes to keep out wolves. In summer the flocks move up the mountain-side, where sheep and shepherd sleep in the open, protected only by makeshift walls of tangled thorn bushes.

It is thought that the oasis described in the twenty-third psalm is a beautiful place known as Ain Fara, where even today shepherds take the flocks commentary. The Hebrew word which is usually translated rod is apparently the equivalent of a scepter. Staff, on the other hand, conveys the idea of support.

The occasion for the forty-sixth psalm was quite probably the miraculous deliverance of Sennacherib from the army of Jerusalem in 701 B.C. This was during the reign of Hezekiah.

The mention of the river in verse 4 is probably inspired by the fact that of all the great historical cities of the ancient world, Jerusalem was the only one which did not stand upon a great river. Only a tiny rivulet flowed past the base of the rock on which the temple stood. This leads us to believe that the river mentioned is the great outflow of God Himself in the tabernacle.

Shaggy Dog Active in School Life

RENSSELAER, N.Y. (AP) — Bootsie, a shaggy dog, is as much a part of Red Mill School as are the children, and he has been attending for 10 years—napping with the kindergartners, marching to the library, playing in the yard, joining fire drills.

He even attends PTA meetings. Lena Mann, who has been principal since the school was built in Hampton Manor, near here, 10 years ago, recalls how Bootsie showed up as a frisky pup when the school first opened.

His owners had moved and left him behind. Despite repeated evictions from the school, he always returned, and finally "I knew that he belonged—perhaps even more than some of the rest of us," says Mrs. Mann.

Bootsie is punctual and dedicated and chases other dogs away. His only absences have been for two operations, paid for by the teachers.

"He has been an apt pupil, perhaps best illustrated by the perfect way that he responds to a fire drill or ducks and covers quietly with a group of students during a defense drill," the principal told a reporter for the Albany Knickerbocker News.

In other years, Bootsie disappeared at night. Now, however, he has a bed at Mrs. Mann's home.

Mrs. Mann is retiring this year, but Bootsie is expected to continue his school duties.

Columbus To Get 25-Story Building

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 25-story office building, which may be ready for occupancy by spring 1965, will be erected northeast of the state Capitol at Broad and Third streets in downtown Columbus, real estate developer, John W. Galbreath announced Thursday.

Galbreath estimated construction cost at $8-8½ million. The building would be second only to the Le Veque-Lincoln Tower in height among buildings in the capital city.

It would be located just south of the 22-story Columbus Plaza motel, now under construction, and across the street from the site where the school employs retirement system proposed to build a 20-story structure.

Kaiser Labor Plan Due To Yield Bonus

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly 4,000 employees of the Kaiser Steel Corp. will get a bonus of about $80 a man, or some 45 cents an hour in the first monthly cost saving distribution under Kaiser's unique new labor plan.

Word of the initial distribution has been eagerly awaited in steel industry quarters because of the possibility that the AFL-CIO Steelworkers Union may urge such a plan for the rest of the industry.

The plan gives to workers each month about a third of the cost savings realized over Kaiser's 1961 cost level. It also guarantees continued jobs despite automation effect.

Kaiser announced that during March, first month of effective operation of the plan, cost savings amounted to $962,000 and the workers share will be $312,000 for 3,930 eligible employees.

This figures out roughly to about $80 a man for the month, or about 45 cents an hour.

Lumber consumption for 1962 was 37.4 billion board feet, slightly above the figure of 1961.

Psalms Of Personal Trust

THE PSALMIST'S TESTIMONY TO HIS EXPERIENCE OF GOD'S PROTECTING CARE

Scripture—Psalms 25:46.

By N. SPEER JONES
IN THIS LESSON we study two of the most famous of all the Psalms. The reason for their fame is to be found in the title of our lesson; the twenty-third, especially, is often memorized, even by the very young, to provide a source of strength and faith in troubled times to come.

David's image of the Lord as a shepherd is one which appealed strongly to Christ; therefore we find it liberally in the pages of the New Testament. It also made its way into pictorial art, perhaps at first on the walls of the early catacombs. Later the image was symbolized in the bishop's crook.

The idea of the shepherd's goodness, which reaches its zenith in the twenty-third commentary. The Hebrew word which is usually translated rod is apparently the equivalent of a scepter. Staff, on the other hand, conveys the idea of support.

The occasion for the forty-sixth psalm was quite probably the miraculous deliverance of Jerusalem from the army of Sennacherib in 701 B.C. This was during the reign of Hezekiah.

The mention of the river in verse 4 is probably inspired by the fact that of all the great historical cities of the ancient world, Jerusalem was the only one which did not stand upon a great river. # Assembly Eyes Adjournment By Mid-June

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The way could be cleared next week for the Ohio Legislature to move toward adjournment of the 1963 session by mid-June, but a couple of pretty big "ifs" are involved.

A major factor is the big $1.3 billion appropriations bill which could come up for a vote in the House next week. House passage of the big money bill could signal an end of the session in June, Legislative leaders say.

Also expected to come up for a vote next week in the House is a measure to create a department for industrial expansion.

Before winding up their work week Thursday, the death knell was sounded in the Senate for a bill that would have allowed the state to grant mineral rights to private groups.

The motion to kill the House-approved bill came from Sen. Oakley C. Collins, R-Lawrence, following a storm of protest from persons who viewed it as a potential threat that some 130,000 acres of state-owned land might be devastated by strip - mine shovels. Most of the protests had come from Coshocton County.

The House completed passage of a Senate-approved bill to allow supervised sports car racing at Put-in-Bay, Lake Erie. Containing an emergency clause, the enactment becomes effective upon signing by the governor.

The act requires public liability insurance of $250,000 for a single accident injury or death and $1 million for death or injury of two or more. Property damage insurance would be $50,000.

The House agreed to reconsider the 76-48 vote by which a bill to abolish the Ohio Aviation Board passed last Tuesday. Actual reconsideration was deferred until an unspecified date.

Rep. James Thorpe, R - Stark, offered a joint House-Senate resolution calling for a popular vote next November to determine whether Ohio's Sunday closing laws should be retained or abolished.

Thorpe said he offered the constitutional amendment proposal because it appeared that a House-passed bill to revise the so-called "blue laws" would die in the Senate. He asserted voters should say at the polls whether they want to keep those laws.

Oil Company To Take Over Chemical Firm

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Continental Oil Co. and the American Agricultural Chemical Co. has announced agreement on terms for Continental to buy assets of the chemical firm.

Continental would pay 2,100,000 share of a new $2 cumulative convertible preferred stock and would assume all of American Agricultural's liabilities in a tax-free reorganization.

"It is contemplated that immediately after such transaction, the American Agricultural Chemical Co. will be liquidated and shares of Continental convertible preferred stock acquired by the American Agricultural Chemical Co. will be distributed to the company's stockholders pro rata," the announcement said Wednesday.

The transaction is subject to approval by stockholders of both companies.

American Chemical has a plant in Washington Court House.

U.S. Sugar-Coated Education Amazes Korean Journalist

Editor's Note: Here is part of a series written by Jae Yim, a Korean who is completing three months as a Columbus Dispatch staff member. Yim is in the U.S. for a year under auspices of the World Press Institute. He will tour the U.S. before returning to Korea. He worked five years in Seoul on both English language and Korean newspapers.

By JAE YIM
Columbus Dispatch Staff Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — In 1960 Korean students rose up against their government and toppled it. Later the same year, Japanese students succeeded in preventing President Eisenhower's visit to Japan.

In the same summer, I read over the teletype bits of news about American college boys having beer party riots and party raids.

Of course, any impression that may be drawn from such instances is grossly misleading. Korean and Japanese students are serious. Yet the very fact that these things have happened has some bearing upon the situations. For in Korea, as in other Asian and Latin American nations, students constitute an unmistakable political pressure group.

I found American students serious and extremely hard working. But in many cases, their work and interests were confined to their immediate surroundings. They busied themselves filling the enormous amount of daily assignments, worrying about mid-term and final examinations and watching basketball, baseball and football games.

A number of boys I met were scantily informed of international situations. Some of them did not even read newspapers, except for sports and comic strips. They talked about new cars.

Their primary concern was to pass exams, finish school, get a nice paying job, get married and live happily ever after.

This is all wonderful in this affluent society. And we need a little security of this sort for our students. But where is the pioneer spirit that made America the greatest country in the world?

I am not saying all American students are like this. I am merely pointing out a trend among them, perhaps a minor one, at that. The trend was quite conspicuous, nevertheless.

I noticed the same lack of challenge at secondary schools.

Every place I visited I was impressed with ultra - modern schools, full of fancy facilities. Classrooms were designed to "provide beauty, efficient environments, etc." There were all sorts of training aids, including teaching machines.

All this seemed to be dedicated to the cause of making learning easier and pleasant for children. Somewhere in the process, school seems to have succeeded in diminishing it, not eliminating, challenge for children. Dropout rates are becoming a matter of serious concern, if not a grave problem.

In my country, as in many others, struggle in life starts early.

At fifth grade of the six-year elementary school (compulsory), children must prepare for grueling competition for best junior high schools. Many learn their first bitter taste of life at the mere age of 12 when they are forced to go to a second-rate school. Same or even stiffer competition awaits them for leading senior highs and colleges.

This system, which places unduly burden on children, has been under constant, bitter criticism. We do need some reforms, but to me, America seems to have gone to the other extreme in the process of sugar-coating education.

Cincy Developer Changes Sites

CINCINNATI (AP)—A potential industrial developer of the Queensgate reclamation area has decided to start developing a $20 million industrial park near the Circle Freeway in Butler County instead.

Robert G. Robson, president of Robson-Middendorf, Inc., said Cincinnati's price tag for Queensgate land was too high. He said the city was asking $1.20 to $1.50 a share foot while land along the freeway cost 35-50 cents a square foot.

Robson said Wednesday night he believed the 200-acre 31-plant development he plans will attract more than 6,000 employees. He said he will call the site near Springboro the Circle Freeway Industrial Center. Springboro has applied to the Butler County Board of Commissioners for permission to annex the site.

British Reveal How Embassy Aide Trapped by Espionage

LONDON (AP) — In Moscow, Sigmund Mikhailski was a mysterious Pole who professed to hate the Russians.

Today, in an official British report, he emerged as a maker of spies, a fixer who turned loyal men into traitors.

Sigmund's formula: blackmail. His tools: sex, money, charm of a kind, even tickets to the Bolshoi Ballet.

The Mikhailski story was told by the British tribunal which investigated the affair of William John Vassall, a homosexual Briton jailed as a Russian spy.

Ten years ago, Mikhailski was hired by the British Embassy in Moscow as an interpreter. He was supplied by the employment agency attached to the Soviet Foreign Ministry.

Sigmund swiftly made himself as nearly indispensable as possible to members of the embassy staff.

He bought food for them, got their theater tickets, attended their parties, and visited them at their homes.

The lonelier ones won his special attention and favors. Sigmund made passes at the girls—and at some of the men, too.

Most of them were suspicious—almost all local staff were automatically assumed to be agents. A few took him at face value.

Vassall came to Moscow in 1954 as a clerk in the office of the British naval attaché.

Sigmund befriended him quickly. He took the quiet spoken Britisher out, talked with him long and earnestly.

Soon, on Vassall's own admission, a homosexual act took place between them.

He found himself trapped. Soviet authorities prevailed upon him to spy for them—or face exposure. He was too weak to make a clean breast of it to his colleagues.

Mikhailski had pulled off a feat

Mikhailski had pulled off a feat

But Sigmund was far from finished.

He was working on at least five other British Embassy officials.

Between 1954 and 1956 he induced at least three of them to engage in blackmailing. They were caught by the Russians, who then tried to blackmail them into spying. This did not work. Each reported back to the embassy. They were hastily sent home.

Late in 1955 a British stenographer to whom Sigmund had been nice recognized what was happening. She told her chief, Mikhailski was under suspicion, the entire staff was alerted. It took nearly a year, though, before the Pole was fired.

BATON CHANGE — Charlie Martin takes the baton from Jim Wood to start the second leg of the 880-yard relay. The Tiger relay team zoomed off to a big lead in the event and won easily at Teays Valley yesterday.

Tigers Top Team In Quad Meeting

Jim Wood paced the Circleville High School track team to victory in a quadrangular meet at Teays Valley yesterday, winning three firsts and running the first leg of the winning 880 yard relay team.

The Tiger cindermen totaled 77 points in the meet while the Vikings placed second with 66. Amanda - Clearcreek was third with 30½ points and Hamilton finished fourth with 26½.

Wood established three records at the Teays Valley track. His times of 16.1 in the high hurdles and 21.3 in the low hurdles were the fastest ever on the newly constructed oval. He leaped 20-feet, two-inches in the broad jump to establish another new mark.

Other marks were chalked up in the high jump by the Vikings' Paul Hartley who cleared 5-feet, 9-inches and by Dave Barr of Amanda-Clearcreek in the discus with a heave of 116-feet, 6-inches.

TEAYS VALLEY placed men in every event, with their ace distance runner Jeff Cline winning the mile and 880 yard runs. He was the only double winner for the Vikings. Bill Pritchard tied with Doug Pontious for a first in the pole vault.

Howard Fletcher won the shot put for the Tigers, Skip Hanson tied for first in the 100-yard dash, was second in the broad jump, and ran the anchor leg off the 880 relay.

Tim Mogan won the 220 yard dash. The meet marked the first time this year Carl Benhase's track team has been at full strength. It undoubtedly was the best day for a track meet this season.

Marion Waites, cinder coach at Teays Valley, said the competition at the meet was probably as good as any they had faced this year. The Vikings have won all their other meets this season, with the exception of the Pleasant View Invitational.

U.S. Baseballers To Tangle With Cuba Again in Pan-Am

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—The baseball team from Cuba gets a chance to jar the U.S. juggernaut at the Pan-American Games today.

Cuba slugged the U.S. 13-1 in the opening game of the double round robin. The U.S. has a 3-1 record at this stage, while Cuba is 2-1 with the loss to Mexico.

If the baseball medal eludes the Yankees, it will be one of the few that got away in a triumphant march that to date has even exceeded the high expectations of the U.S. team.

The U.S. has grabbed 33 gold medals, with only eight going to all the other nations.

Thursday, American athletes grabbed 14 of the 15 medals decided, finished a clean sweep of all eight wrestling titles and took all the swimming titles on the card to maintain that monopoly.

Two gold medals came in weightlifting, and one each in fencing, equestrian dressage and tennis. Another was sewed up in rapid fire, pistol shooting, where two Americans tied for first and will shoot it off today.

Back-to-Back Victories Are Sought by Patton

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—Geographically speaking, the North and South Amateur Golf Tournament was just that as 18-hole semifinal pairings today pitted defending champion Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N.C., against Ray Terry of Jacksonville, Fla., and Bob Allen of West Hartford, Conn., against John Guenther of Reading, Pa.

Patton is striving to become the first man to win back-to-back championships in this 63-year-old classic since Frank Strafaci did it in 1938-39.

Tigers Top Team In Quad Meeting

Jim Wood paced the Circleville High School track team to victory in a quadrangular meet at Teays Valley yesterday, winning three firsts and running the first leg of the winning 880 yard relay team.

The Tiger cindermen totaled 77 points in the meet while the Vikings placed second with 66. Amanda - Clearcreek was third with 30½ points and Hamilton finished fourth with 26½.

Wood established three records at the Teays Valley track. His times of 16.1 in the high hurdles and 21.3 in the low hurdles were the fastest ever on the newly constructed oval. He leaped 20-feet, two-inches in the broad jump to establish another new mark.

Other marks were chalked up in the high jump by the Vikings' Paul Hartley who cleared 5-feet, 9-inches and by Dave Barr of Amanda-Clearcreek in the discus with a heave of 116-feet, 6-inches.

TEAYS VALLEY placed men in every event, with their ace distance runner Jeff Cline winning the mile and 880 yard runs. He was the only double winner for the Vikings. Bill Pritchard tied with Doug Pontious for a first in the pole vault.

Howard Fletcher won the shot put for the Tigers, Skip Hanson tied for first in the 100-yard dash, was second in the broad jump, and ran the anchor leg off the 880 relay.

Tim Mogan won the 220 yard dash. The meet marked the first time this year Carl Benhase's track team has been at full strength. It undoubtedly was the best day for a track meet this season.

Marion Waites, cinder coach at Teays Valley, said the competition at the meet was probably as good as any they had faced this year. The Vikings have won all their other meets this season, with the exception of the Pleasant View Invitational.

U.S. Baseballers To Tangle With Cuba Again in Pan-Am

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—The baseball team from Cuba gets a chance to jar the U.S. juggernaut at the Pan-American Games today.

Cuba slugged the U.S. 13-1 in the opening game of the double round robin. The U.S. has a 3-1 record at this stage, while Cuba is 2-1 with the loss to Mexico.

If the baseball medal eludes the Yankees, it will be one of the few that got away in a triumphant march that to date has even exceeded the high expectations of the U.S. team.

The U.S. has grabbed 33 gold medals, with only eight going to all the other nations.

Thursday, American athletes grabbed 14 of the 15 medals desired, finished a clean sweep of all eight wrestling titles and took all the swimming titles on the card to maintain that monopoly.

Two gold medals came in weightlifting, and one each in fencing, equestrian dressage and tennis. Another was sewed up in rapid fire, pistol shooting, where two Americans tied for first and will shoot it off today.

The U.S. also has 12 silver and 10 bronze medals, both high. American swimmers set three Pan-Am records in winning all four races Thursday.

The U.S. 400-meter women's medley relay team also won. Yankee wrestlers, who had won three titles, added the other five Thursday. Andy Fitch, New York, won the flyweight; Biff Riddle of Livonia, Mich., the bantamweight; Greg Ruth of Highland Falls, N.Y. the lightweight; John Fitzgerald

AP Television-Radio Writer ... NEW YORK (AP)—"Television series are like streetcars," said actor Larry Blyden. "They come along every so often, and then it's up to the actor to decide whether it will take him where he wants to go."

Blyden is a versatile performer equally at home playing a heel (Sammy in "What Makes Sammy Run?"), a singing, dancing leading man (Rodgers and Hammerstein's "Flower Drum Song") and assorted bookkeepers, scientists, reporters, suburban husbands on assorted television anthologies.

About three years ago, along came a projected TV series to be adapted from a book called "Les Girls."

Blyden, who had been turning a disinterested shoulder to five or six series ideas a year, decided that the series, retitled "Harry's Girls," was his streetcar.

So, next week, Blyden (who plays Harry) and three beautiful young actresses (who play the girls) depart for a year of film-making in Europe. A grass widower, Blyden has already rented a flat in London, and expects that he'll be doing plenty of traveling around the continent for location shots.

"Why should I turn down an opportunity to become rich and famous?" he asked expansively. "Besides, I like the idea of the series; it gives me a chance to live abroad for a while; a chance to work with European actors and an opportunity to see a lot of theatre in London and Paris, even Germany, Russia and Scandinavia, if I'm lucky."

The assignment on the show which will be an NBC Friday night entry next season will not make him a complete expatriate. He expects to fly to New York every five or six weeks, mostly to visit his two children, aged five and two, who live with his former wife, Carol Haney, the dancer and choreographer, in New Jersey.

Blyden, born Larry Bliden in Houston, also welcomes the television series because it gives him a chance to get back to comedy roles. He's been having trouble recently with that old actor's problem, type-casting.

The Mediterranean Sea forms part of Syria's western boundary and provides a water route to the west.

Navy Recalls Salvage Expert

Thresher Loss Brings Review of Techniques

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy has called back from retirement Capt. William R. Anderson, former skipper of the pioneer nuclear submarine Nautilus, to help pull together its underwater rescue programs and techniques for salvage from the ocean floor.

Anderson's return to temporary active duty with a new naval group was learned today, little more than two weeks after the nuclear submarine Thresher sank a mile and a half under the Atlantic's waves with 129 men.

Because of the great depth the Navy holds out no hope for salvaging the Thresher. And the Navy said there are no plans now for Anderson's group to have any direct part in the search to locate the submarine's hulk.

Anderson, 41, who had been a Nautilus shipmate of the Thresher's skipper, Lt. Cmdr. John W. Harvey, will head the submarine section of the newly formed group to consolidate all the Navy's oceanographic and deep salvage studies.

Rear Adm. E. C. Stephan, named chairman of the "Deep Submergence Systems Review Group," had asked that Anderson join the organization.

Anderson, whose home is Waverly, Tenn., retired from active service last June to work with the Freedom Foundation with headquarters at Valley Forge, Pa.

The Navy has announced that the group will seek to organize into a single program the various widespread studies of the Navy, "including plans for deep research vehicles which are now ready for application to operational use."

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Skies were fair and temperatures unseasonably cool over Ohio Thursday night as high pressure continued to dominate the Great Lakes region.

Near daybreak today, temperatures included Columbus and Cleveland 34, Cincinnati 37, Zanesville and Toledo 32 and—the midwest—Chesapeake 48.

High pressure over Ohio today will result in fair, dry weather with little change in temperatures. It is not expected to be as cool tonight, and Saturday indicates the beginning of a warming trend with mostly fair skies.

Early indications today favor warm temperatures to extend into Sunday. However, there is a threat of showers by Sunday for many portions of the state.

NORTHERN OHIO — Temperatures will average three to six degrees above normal. Normal high 59-66, normal low 39-44. Slow warming over weekend, cooler toward mid-week. Rainfall will average one-half to three-fourths of an inch in scattered showers first half of next week.

SOUTHERN & CENTRAL OHIO — Temperatures will average about five degrees above normal. Normal high 68, normal low 45. Warming trend over weekend. Rainfall will average one-half to one inch occurring about first of next week.

Darby Bumped In 2-0 Tilt

Darby High School lost a tight 2-0 baseball game to visiting Bishop Ready yesterday in spite of good pitching performances by both David Rowland and Danny Bowen.

The Trojans had scoring threats, particularly in the fourth when they had two men on with only one out, according to Ned Reichelderfer, Trojan coach. A pair of consecutive strikeouts halted that threat.

Ellis, the winning pitcher, also had the longest blast of the day, a double that advanced Kubin into scoring position.

A fielders choice and a bunt then scored the lone two runs for Ready.

The next game for the Trojans is scheduled Tuesday at onrce.

Mother Said Slayer of 4 Of 7 Children

FALMOUTH, Ky. (AP) — The Pendleton County grand jury meets today to consider charges against Mrs. Virginia Hill, 26, who officials say has admitted she killed four of her seven children.

Two other children died of natural causes, officials said.

Mrs. Hill was arrested after a pathologist found contusions on the neck of Kenneth Dwane Hill, 2, who died April 7. Police said Mrs. Hill admitted smothering the boy with a pillow after her husband said he would leave her, but could give no reason for the act.

She was taken to County Jail and sheriff's deputies said Thursday Mrs. Hill had signed a statement saying she set the fire in which three other children and a Falmouth man died on Dec. 29, 1957.

Deputies said she has been charged with willful murder in Kenneth's death and with arson.

The fire victims were her children by a former husband, Mervin Jenkins. They were identified as Danny Ray, 26 months; Helen, 13 months, and Lee, 3 months. The other victim was Theodore Hamilton, 45, who apparently was overcome by smoke.

Aid Director Shuns Ohioan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio Congresswoman Frances Bolton, ranking Republican on the House Foreign Affairs Committee, reportedly invited the nation's foreign aid director to point out where his $4.5 billion budget request can be cut, and he politely declined the invitation.

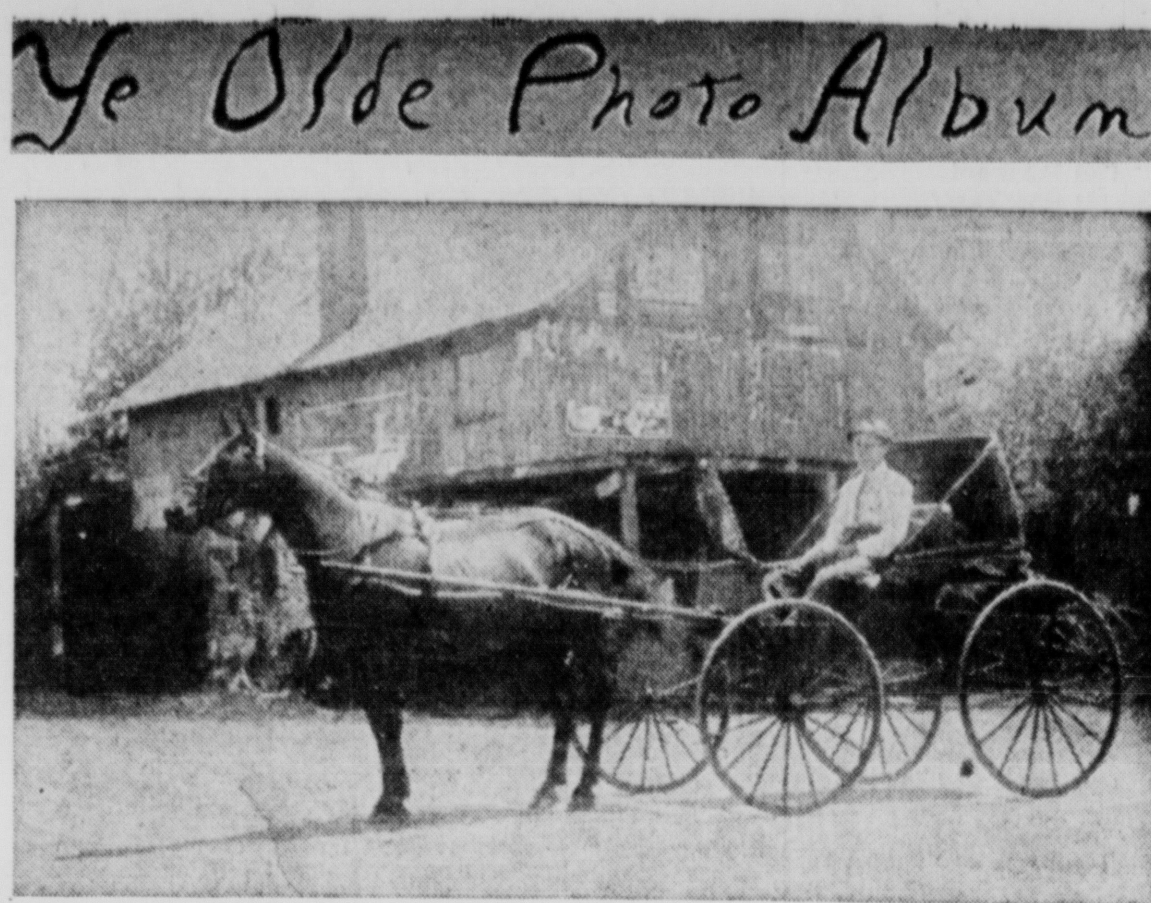

The incident allegedly took place while foreign aid Director David E. Bell was testifying before the Foreign Aid committee.

A committee source said Mrs. Bolton told Bell, "you're not going to get all that money. You know that, don't you?"

Then she insisted that Bell must have some order of priorities in the budget request and invited him to point out where it should be cut first.

The source said Bell's reply, wrapped in many polite phrases, was that he considered all items in the budget priority items.

It is the start of the second round of the Pickaway County League.
